MORE LOWELL MEN LEAVE FOR CAMP UPTON

Lowell paid another tribute to the nation this morning when she sent approximately 80 of her own men and a number from other places on the first stage of their journey to Camp Upton, N. Y., where they will train to fit themselves as soldiers of the national army.

This morning's departure was another of the "sunrise" variety, although there was but little sun visible as the men drew out of the Middlesex street station at 7.15 for South Framingham, their first stopping point. Thence they went to Springfield and New York, where a special train carried them and hundreds of other men from cities and towns in this vicinity directly to Yaphank, Long Island.

WILSON ADDRESSES CONGRESS URGES NEW WAR TAX LAWS

WASHINGTON, May 27.—President Wilson personally took charge of the war tax legislation today, and appearing unexpectedly before a joint session of congress, declared it was necessary to proceed immediately with new war tax laws.

Plans, which might have delayed the work, but which involved a working agreement between both parties, have fallen through, the president told the legislators, and there was no way to meet the problem of financing the war except to have congress remain in session and go ahead at once.

The president called upon congress to eliminate offices from consideration. Politics, he said, is "adjoined." The principal increases in taxation, the president said, should be on incomes, war profits and luxuries.

It would be manifestly unfair, the president said, to wait until 1919 before determining what the new taxes would be. The president's address was comparatively brief, taking less than 15 minutes for delivery.

In specific terms the president gave a distinct warning against lobbying in connection with the new bill.

Laws to End Profiteering

There is indisputable evidence of profiteering at present, the president said, and he declared it must be reached by the new legislation.

"Profiteering that cannot be got at by restraints of conscience," said the president, "can be got at by taxation."

"There need be no hesitance in taxing the country, the president told congress if it were taxed justly. He appealed to congress to approach the great task without selfishness or fear of political consequences.

"An intense and pitiless light beats upon every man and every action in the tragic part of war that is now upon the stage," said the president.

"The president concluded with an appeal to congress to do its work ungrudgingly and said he could not guarantee a proper administration of the treasury unless the questions were settled at once.

MORE LOWELL MEN FOR ARMY AND NAVY

The local regular army station forwarded three men to Boston this morning for final examination. They were John D. Aubin, 12 Riverside avenue; Robert Stead, 4 Clinton avenue; engineers, and Romeo Gendron, 732 Moody street, coast artillery.

The navy station put in another busy day today as a result of the efforts of the Boston recruiting party being here. The following men were sent to Boston: Albert O. Guerin, No. Chelmsford, musician, 2d class; James A. Griffin, Lawrence, seaman, 2d class; Joseph L. Michaud, Nashua, N. H., seaman, 2d class; Augustus F. Walker, Reading, electrician, 3d class; Arthur B. Smith, Nashua, apprentice seaman; Robert H. Petzold, Lawrence, apprentice seaman.

Lieut. Commander James Meahan of one of Uncle Sam's men-of-war, a brother of Postmaster John F. Meahan, was in Lowell Saturday on a short leave. His vessel is at present in Boston and he expects to return to Lowell again before starting out on another cruise. He has visited the States and South American ports recently. With him Saturday were Chief Carpenter John Brennan of Cambridge, son of the police chief of that city, and John O'Brien, another Lowell boy, who was formerly a West Pointer.

Frank Breen, Jr., of Central square and George W. Hamilton of 719 Middlesex street have been accepted for training for the merchant marine and will be sent to a training ship in Boston.

BIGGEST RATE INCREASE IN HISTORY OF RAILROADS

McADOO BOOSTS RAILWAY WAGES $300,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 27.—General pay increases for nearly 2,000,000 railroad employees were announced yesterday by Director General McAdoo, effective next Saturday and retroactive to last January 1, carrying out substantially recommendations of the railroad wage commission.

The aggregate of the increases probably will be more than $300,000,000 a year, half of which will be distributed within a few weeks as back pay in lump sums ranging from about $100 to nearly $200 each.

The director-general departed from Washington today for New York City.

McADOO INCREASES FREIGHT AND PASSENGER RATES

WASHINGTON, May 27.—To meet wage increases just announced and higher costs of coal and other supplies this year, Director General McAdoo today ordered railroad freight rates in the United States raised 26 per cent, and passenger fares increased to three cents a mile from the present basis of about 2.12 cents.

It is estimated that the program will bring between $800,000,000 and $900,000,000 more revenues to the railroads within the next year. It represents by far the biggest rate increase in the history of railroads.

ARREST MADE IN LOWELL DIAMOND ROBBERY

According to a Boston despatch the police of that city have arrested a man claiming Syracuse, N. Y., as his residence, for the larceny of a bag containing $125,000 worth of diamonds from John Karliner, a salesman for a New York firm, while the latter was in D. L. Page's restaurant in this city last week. The police claim that the man admits his guilt and that he has told how he and a companion followed the salesman from Worcester to Lowell last Tuesday and that they divided the spoils when they reached Boston later in the day.

Supt. Welch of the police department stated to the newspapermen this morning that the police of Boston had no right to give out the above information and that to use the man's name would be dangerous but intimated that something of importance in connection with the diamond robbery would in all probability turn up today.

It is understood that Inspector John A. Walsh went to Boston this morning for the purpose of securing the man who was arrested by the Boston police in order to bring him to this city.

BATTLE ON 50-MILE FRONT

Attempt Simultaneous Push Through to the Channel Ports in North and to Strike for Paris in the South—Southernly Blow on 40-Mile Front the More Important—Allies Prepared for the Gigantic Thrust

Germany has resumed her drive for a decision on the western front after a lapse of nearly four weeks, striking in the south between Rheims and Soissons and in Flanders on the northern side of the Lys salient.

While it is too early for the true German intention to be disclosed, the effort apparently is simultaneously to push through to the channel ports in the north, thus breaking up the British front, and to strike for Paris in the south in an effort aimed mainly at the French.

Southern Region Neglected

The main field of the German attack began last March and halted after the disastrous enemy reverse in Flanders late in April—the Somme region in the direction of Amiens—has been neglected by the German command in this new thrust. The possibility exists, however, that the fighting will be extended to this area in which the battle develops.

Southern Blow on 40-Mile Front

The southern blow, which covers a front of some 40 miles and apparently is by far the more important of the two, has come at a point which had not been considered the most probable field for a renewal of the German attempt. The fact that both British and French troops are found holding this front, however, gives indication that General Foch, the allied commander-in-chief, has hardly been caught napping and has large forces massed there.

To Forestall Counter-Effort

It was, indeed, on this front, between the tip of the Montdidier salient and Rheims, that the enemy flank was most dangerously exposed and where he must have felt himself most vulnerable to a counter-blow. If his attack here is successful, a demonstration in force, to cover the main effort elsewhere, nor a veritable drive at Paris, the possibility remains that it was launched with the intention of driving the allies from their advantageous positions along the Oise and the Aisne, thus forestalling a flanking counter-effort by Foch's great reserve army.

Flanders' Stroke of Less Magnitude

The stroke in Flanders, while of far less magnitude, covering a front shorter or than 10 miles, is nevertheless aimed at the points which the Germans must take before they can help to carry their April advance farther toward the coast, the hills which constitute the backbone of the Franco-British position, only the outlying peak of which the Germans captured when they took Mont Kemmel last month. Scherpenberg, Mont Rouge, Mont Des Cats and other eminences yet bar the way for the Germans.

Allied Positions Strong

The allied positions along both fronts under attack are notably strong. This is particularly true of the southern line guarded by the rivers Oise and Aisne and the Chemin-des-Dames ridge.

In the north, the French recently strengthened their hold on the hill region by pushing forward in the Lore sector in local thrusts and capturing important high ground.

Allies Well Prepared

In general, the allies seem well prepared for the thrust and while they appear likely to be forced to give ground at points, the opinion of their high command has reflected the confidence in the ability of the allied forces to prevent the Germans from gaining anything decisive.

Four weeks ago today, the Germans sustained a disastrous and sanguinary repulse in their attempt to advance northward from Mont Kemmel. This was the reverse which stopped the second enemy thrust against the British.

No Change On American Sectors

There has been no change on the American sectors. Northwest of Toul and east of Lunville, the artillery fire continues light. Near Lunville, an American patrol has been successful in a brush with the enemy, the Germans being routed with the loss of several dead after a sharp fight. There were no American casualties.

On the Italian and Macedonian fronts, the artillery and aerial arms are more active than the infantry. At some points there have been patrol encounters and small attacks, but no infantry operations of moment have developed.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN THE POLICE COURT

Lawrence H. Hayden, who was arrested Saturday afternoon by Lieut. Maher and Officer Breault on a warrant charging him with breaking and entering and larceny from a freight car of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, was arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning, but the case was continued until May 31.

William St. Louis interfered with Patrolman Barclay while the latter was making an arrest, and just for that St. Louis was charged with assault and battery on an officer, found guilty, and a fine of $30 was imposed.

Joseph Hachy was charged with carrying a pistol without a permit and the case was continued until May 31.

Joseph Leclair was ordered to pay a fine of $25 after being found guilty of cruelly driving a horse.

Thomas W. Flynn who, it is alleged, stole an automobile belonging to Dr. M. L. Alling, appeared before the court this morning on a complaint of larceny of an automobile. Probable cause of guilt was found and he was held under $500 bonds for appearance before the grand jury.

Charles Mitchell, charged with the larceny of files from Sparks' livery stable, was sentenced to one month in jail.

Paul Brother, charged with drunkenness, was sentenced to two months in jail, and Thomas Wynne and Archie Barnaby were each ordered to pay a fine of $10. Seventeen first offenders were released by the probation officer before the opening of court.

CIVIL SESSION OF THE SUPERIOR COURT WITH JURIES—PERSONAL INJURY CASE

Justice Morton presided at the civil session of the superior court with juries, and the first matter taken up was the case of Karolina Broughton against Denison Brothers, an action of tort for personal injuries. The plaintiff stated that the defendants were on November 15, 1917, owners of a certain store on Gorham street in which they sold crockery and other kinds of merchandise, and that on the date in question she entered the store for the purpose of making a purchase, and while in the store she fell through a certain trap door in the floor of the store and suffered physical injuries. Quia, Howard & Rogers appeared for the plaintiffs, and John J. and William A. Hogan for the defendants.

LOWELL'S SOLDIER DEAD

Tributes Paid Men of Two Wars at Memorial Sunday Exercises Held Yesterday

Annual Memorial Sunday exercises were held at the First Congregational church yesterday afternoon and tributes were paid to the men of two wars, that of '61 and the present great conflict. The reading of the roll of Lowell dead in the world war, 24 to date, was perhaps, the most impressive part of the exercises.

Major Perry D. Thompson and Rev. George E. Vickard, D.D., were the principal speakers; the latter being the orator of the day. Both addresses were most inspiring and both were tinged with the significance of present day events.

There was a large attendance when "Assembly" was blown at 2:30 by Geo. E. Bryant and the members of the three local posts of the G.A.R. died in to take their annual part in the services.

A quartet of the church and the audience joined in singing the national anthem as the opening number and this was followed by Adj. George E.

Worthen of Post 42 who read Gen. John A. Logan's order of 1868 instituting Memorial day. Rev. Arthur S. Beale, pastor of the Highland Congregational church, read Scriptural selections and Rev. David C. Porrey of Cambridge offered prayer.

Mrs. Monroe Evans sang "Let Us Have Peace," and then the roll of Civil war veterans who have passed away within the year was read by adjutants of the various posts who reported to Chairman Frank S. Pevey. "Taps" was blown after each roll call.

Adj. Worthen read the following roll for Post 120, as follows:

Company C, Ninth Maine Infantry, and 71st company, V.R.C., died July 30, 1917, aged 39 years; George E. McIntire, Co. A, Tenth Maine Infantry, died March 18, 1918, aged 76 years; Albro Fletcher, Co. M, Fourth Massachusetts Heavy Artillery, died May 10, 1918, aged 82 years; M. Eugene McDonald, first lieutenant, Co. C, Third Massachusetts Cavalry, died May 16, 1918, aged 75 years.

Adj. Frank E. Butler read the roll for Post 120, as follows:

Charles F. Dane, Co. D, Sixth Mass. Infantry, died Nov. 29, 1918, aged 76; Walter Farwell, Co. A, Fifth Maine Inf., died Dec. 12, 1917, aged 72; Geo. E. Flint, 23rd N. Y. Independent Battery, died March 14, 1918, aged 73; Eugene A. Turner, musician in Co. B, Sixth Mass. Inf., died May 9, 1918, aged 79 years; John Collins, U.S.N., died June 26, 1917, aged 76 years; Geo. M. Clark, Co. E, Third Mass. H. A., died Aug. 16, 1917, aged 72; Charles L. Fuller, Co. H, Fourth N. H. Infantry, died Aug. 12, 1917; Peter Littlehale, Co. D, Sixth Mass. Inf., died Aug. 12, 1917, aged 81.

Adj. C. H. Horton read the roll for Post 120, as follows:

Charles R. Kitchen, Co. G, Sixth Mass. Infantry, died June 11, 1917, aged 90; John H. Colburn, Co. K, Sixth Mass. Infantry, died Oct. 14, 1917; William H. Lathrop, Co. F, 44th Mass. Infantry, assistant surgeon 55th Mass., died Dec. 25, 1917; Jonas W. Wilson, seaman, died Dec. 27, 1917; Reuben P. Charters, Battery A, Light Artillery, died Jan. 2, 1918; John F. Bateman, Co. G, 20th Maine Infantry, died April 26, 1918; Abram Fenton, Co. G, Second Maine Inf., and Co. G, Second Maine Veteran Cavalry, died April 28, 1918, aged 72; Daniel P. Byam, Co. K, Sixth Mass. Infantry, died May 25, 1918.

Frank Colburn, secretary of the memorial committee, read the following list of veterans who have died since last Memorial Sunday, but who were not members of posts:

June 21, Michael McCarthy, ship Cumberland, U.S.N., and Co. H, Third Mass. Heavy Artillery, aged 84 years; Aug. 14, Joseph Holtham, Co. C, 45th Mass. Infantry, and First Mass. "We should be proud of our men who have gone abroad to engage in the great battles being waged on the borders of Belgium and in northern France. Proud, too, should we be of our boys upon the seas, and in the equipments of our war department; proud of our people here at home, who so heartily contribute to the various agencies devoted to comfort the wounded, the sick and the dying; proud of our citizenry which has accomplished so much by their devoted adherence to the president of our country, in the conduct of the war."

PRIVATE HENRY HALL BACK FROM FRANCE

Another Lowell boy of the American Expeditionary Forces has returned from the trenches to this city with a tale of adventure and doing. Private Henry Hall, formerly of Co. M, 102d U. S. Infantry, son of Joseph and Mary Hall of 330 Lakeview avenue, has been and on April 12 left France for this country. He arrived in New York on April 23 and was sent to Fort Belvoir, N. Y., where he spent two weeks and a half before receiving his discharge. He arrived in Lowell a few days ago.

Private Hall is not allowed to go into detail as to the causes which led to his nervous breakdown because of instructions to the contrary by the military authorities at the time of his discharge.

He said that during the first few weeks of his stay in France conditions were anything but inviting. There was mud everywhere and it was nothing unusual to see a rat as big as a cat. While he was with Co. M his captain, Arthur Locke, was killed in action and four sergeants of the company were also lost. At one period his unit was under fire for five days and nights consecutively. Although Private Hall was sent to the hospital just as he was about to take part in the defense of a portion of the western front with his comrades, nevertheless, he himself went through several exciting adventures and one which stands out prominently is that in which one of his ears was deafened as a result of continued exposure to snow and cold.

The Lowell soldier met a number of Lowell boys in France, several of whom had been transferred to his unit. Among the Lowell men he met were Corp. Orlando P. Van and Private Urgel Favreau, living to the shock which he suffered at the time of his breakdown his memory of events was affected somewhat and he is unable to recall other Lowell men whom he met.

He went through the usual training with other members of American expeditionary forces and in January was ready to enter the trenches on the western front. He was overcome by a nervous breakdown, however, and on Jan. 28 was sent to the hospital. He remained there until early in April granted an honorable discharge after six months' service in France.

Private Hall was employed in the South Lowell plant of the U. S. Cartilage Co. under Foreman William Duddy before war was declared. He went to Hartford, Conn., in the spring of 1917 to accept a new position and there joined Co. M on May 21.

He left New Haven on Sept. 15 for Montreal. On Sept. 21 he left Halifax for overseas and arrived in Liverpool, Eng., on Oct. 2. After two days' stay there he went to Southampton and arrived at a French port on Oct. 4. He left this port the next day and arrived at an American training camp on Oct. 8.

"Put a healing coat on the lining of the throat."

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

A COUGH that threatens to rip and tear out the lining of the throat, that seems to jolt and jerk the chest beyond endurance, and causes an echoing thump at the back of the head as if you were hit with a sledge hammer—such a cough needs a cooling, soothing medicine like Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to coat the raw, inflamed surfaces with a healing balm.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been used in many instances of severe bronchitis, in grippe and other racking coughs that debilitate.

What Foley's Did For One Man

J. D. Enterkin, Winston, Ga., writes: "Several years ago I had a terrible attack, both lungs being inflamed. After recovering somewhat my lungs never 'cleared up' and I suffered severe pains, which I had for three months and couldn't get well. I got one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it alone entirely cured me. It took all the soreness away and cleared my lungs. It is the most valuable medicine I ever used. I cheerfully recommend it."

This old standard remedy seems to get right at the seat of trouble, almost instantly relieves the nervous tickling in the throat, clears the passages, quiets that persistent irritation which instigates the paroxysms of coughing. One or two doses produce a desirable and welcome result.

Are You Prepared?

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound should be in every home. No cold should be neglected, however slight. It should be taken in hand promptly and checked just as soon as possible. The longer it lingers the worse for the sufferer. So don't experiment. Get the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar today and have it ready for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, croup, etc. etc. In 25c, 50c and $1.00 sizes. ## MANY WOMEN WANTED FOR WAR WORK

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.—More and more, as the war program progresses, is the government depending upon women to perform the tremendously increased volume of work in the civil branches. The force of civilian employees in Washington, D. C., increased from 30,000 to approximately 70,000 during the first year of our participation in the war. Of this increase of 40,000 more than 25,000 are women. Women make up the increase in government offices and establishments outside of Washington in less proportion, for the reason that the greatest expansion in the field has been in the large manufacturing plants of the war and navy departments, where thousands of mechanics and laborers are employed in shipbuilding and in manufacturing ordnance and other war material. Women are not available for employment in trades positions to any great extent, but their services are being utilized in every way that is practicable. The United States civil service commission is calling for women for government work of not less than 60 different kinds. The list includes stenographers, typists, bookkeepers, other clerks of a score or more of classifications which require training in some special or technical line; statisticians; operators of various kinds of calculating, addressing, and duplicating machines; proof readers, law clerks, welfare executive secretaries, draftsmen of a dozen kinds, telegraph and telephone operators, trained nurses, chemists, physicists, library assistants, inspectors of undergarments, finger-print classifiers, and many others.

The commission urges women to offer their services to the government at this time of great need. As men are called to the colors, women must take their places and keep the machinery behind the armed forces moving at the maximum of efficiency. Representatives of the civil service commission at the postoffices in all important cities are prepared to furnish definite information and application blanks.

Rural Carrier

The United States civil service commission has announced an examination for the county of Middlesex, Massachusetts, to be held at Ayer, Lowell, Boston, Framingham, on June 22, 1918, to fill the position of rural carrier at Townsend Harbor and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other postoffices in the above-mentioned county. The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of the postoffice in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States civil service commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

During the continuance of the present war the commission will, in accordance with the request of the postoffice department, admit women to rural carrier examinations upon the same conditions as men.

Charwoman Examination

The United States civil service commission announces an examination for charwoman on June 3, 1918, for the purpose of filling a vacancy in the custodian service, Federal building, at Lowell, Mass., at a salary of $300 per annum.

No written examination will be given but each applicant will be required to be examined by a physician at her own expense and must submit a photograph of herself taken within two years.

Applicants must be citizens of the United States and have reached their 20th but not their 50th birthdays on the day of examination.

The required application blanks may be secured from the local secretary at the postoffice, Lowell, after May 23, and must be filed in complete form with him on or before June 3.

Other Examinations

Other competitive examinations are announced to be held as follows:

Passenger ticket clerk (male and female), salary $1200 to $1500 per annum; freight rate clerk (male and female), salary $1200 to $1500 per annum; tariff clerk (male and female), salary $1200 to $1500 per annum; expert in business administration (male), salary, grade 1, $2800 to $2400 per annum; grade 2, $2800 to $2000 per annum; associate engineer (male), salary, $2000 to $2300 per annum; assistant engineer (male), salary, $1400 to $1800 per annum; laboratory assistant (male and female), salary, $1800 to $1920 per annum; assistant physicist qualified in physical metallurgy (male and female), salary, $1400 to $1800 per annum; inspectors of construction (male), salary, $4.00 to $7.50 per diem; engineer in charge of power house (male), salary, $1800 to $2400 per annum; foreman of machine shop (male), salary, $1800 to $2400 per annum; radio inspector (male), salary, $1200 to $1800 per annum; assistant engineer (male), salary, $1500 per annum; junior engineer (male), salary, $900 per annum; refrigerating engineer (male), salary, $3000 per annum; construction of engineer (male), salary, $2400 per annum; planning expert (male), salary, $2400 per annum; industrial examiner in forest products (male), salary, $1500 to $2500 per annum; cement tester (male), salary, grade 1, $900 per annum; grade 2, $1000 per annum; grade 3, $1200 per annum; operator of acid and chemical apparatus (male), salary, $3 to $5 a day; index and catalogue clerk, $1000 to $1200 per annum; steel plant clerk, $1000 to $2400 per annum; machine plant clerk, salary, $1000 to $2400 per annum; munition loading plant clerk, salary, $1000 to $2400 per annum; powder plant clerk, salary, $1000 to $2400 per annum; balance of stores clerk, salary, $1000 to $1200 per annum; inspector of construction (male), salary, $1600 to $2100 per annum; supervising inspector of ordnance material (male), salary, $3900 to $3400 per annum; inspector of ordnance material (male), salary, $2500 to $2900 per annum; assistant inspector of ordnance material, salary, $1600 to $2100 per annum; production clerk (male), salary, $125 a month; assistant gauge-checker (male), salary, $1000 to $1600 per annum; senior cost accountant (male and female), salary, $2200 to $1200 per annum; junior cost accountant (male and female), salary, $1200 to $2000 per annum; hydrographic and topographic draftsman (male), salary, $1000 per annum.

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR CORP. FLANNERY

With military honors the remains of the late Corporal Edward J. Flannery, a very prominent young man of this city, who died at Camp Gordon, Georgia, May 20, were tenderly consigned to their last resting place in the Catholic cemetery yesterday afternoon and the obsequies were attended by over 5,000 people, representing all walks of life as well as fraternal and social organizations.

The funeral cortege headed by a large band of music, followed by a large number of relatives and friends, left the residence of the deceased at 230 O'Connell street at 2:30 o'clock and the procession consisting of numerous carriages followed by about 2000 men on foot, wended its way to St. Patrick's cemetery, where the last rites of the Catholic church were held.

Included in the funeral cortege were all the local divisions of the A.O.U., the Broadway Social and Athletic club, Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Holy Name society of St. Patrick's parish and representatives of other Holy Name societies from various parts of the city, members of St. Patrick's sanctuary choir and a large number of Lowell soldiers from Camp Devens as well as representatives of the United States navy. Music for the occasion was furnished by Bamberg's Military band and the Lowell Cadet band. The marshal of the procession was Michael J. Monahan and his chief aid was Frank J. Kierce.

When the procession reached the cemetery the organizations formed a hollow square about the grave and the committal services were read by Rev. James J. Kerrigan, spiritual director of the C. Y. M. L., of which deceased was a prominent member. During the service the members of St. Patrick's sanctuary choir sang "Benedictus," the solo being sustained by James E. Donnelly. Previous to the recital of the prayers the hands played "The Soldier's Farewell" and at the conclusion "Sweet Repose." The squad of soldiers fired the usual volley and as the casket was lowered into the grave taps were sounded.

The St. Patrick's School Alumni association was represented at the funeral by the following delegation: Dr. Richard J. McCluskey, Paul B. McLaughlin, Michael Kelley and John F. Golden. The bearers were John O'Sullivan, Garrett Royal, John Stapleton, Michael Doherty, James McKernan, Charles Miner, Peter McMenamin and Wakefield D. Howell. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers James P. O'Donnell & Sons.

Friday night a large delegation of members of the Holy Name society of St. Patrick's parish held services over the body at the chapel of Undertakers James P. O'Donnell & Sons, with Rev. Joseph A. Curtin as the officiating clergyman. Saturday evening a delegation from the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks also held services at the same place with Past President John S. Jackson in charge, assisted by Chaplain William C. Greenwood.

THE RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

This is the last day of the Red Cross drive and hence anybody who has not been reached should come forward with a contribution before the bars are lowered. There has seldom been a drive of any kind conducted with such general enthusiasm as the present in aid of the Red Cross. In the churches yesterday it was talked from the pulpit in strong appeals. In most of the Catholic churches Cardinal O'Connell's eloquent words were quoted and vigorous language used in urging liberal support of this splendid organization. In the other churches also, the congregations were reminded of the great drive and were asked to lend their aid in putting Lowell where she belongs in this movement so indispensable for the success of the war. That is the sentiment that we wish to convey to all the people of this city who have not already contributed.

ROOSEVELT'S ATTACK

Ex-President Roosevelt, now rehabilitated in the republican party, must do something to vindicate his sincerity and his "regularity." Consequently he has succeeded in getting a virulent attack on President Wilson inserted in the Congressional Record. He put it in the form of a letter addressed to Senator Poinsett of Washington bearing upon his (Roosevelt's) controversy with Postmaster Burleson in which he charged the postmaster with discrimination in favor of some newspapers and against others according as they favored or opposed the administration. He charged President Wilson personally with responsibility for what the postmaster general had done in the matter and alluded particularly to the toleration of the Hearst papers, which he claimed to be pro-German.

On motion of another senator, Mr. Burleson's reply to a former attack of Roosevelt was also ordered printed in the Record, while several disgraced republicans such as Senator Gallinger expressed the hope that this would be the end of the controversy. Mr. Gallinger, however, must understand that Roosevelt will not cease to assail the administration unless he be interned.

AWAITING THE DRIVE

Never have the Allies made such elaborate preparations for a German attack as they have at present in readiness for the renewal of the German drive.

Why, it is asked, do they not attack the Germans in advance?

That is a very pertinent question as it does seem rather strange that they remain on the defensive while Germany is allowed to perfect her arrangements for attack at her leisure. Well, there is a reason. The main point is to prevent the Germans getting through the allied line. If, therefore, any part of this line left its fixed position in an advance, it might be cut off and thus an opening left for the enemy to pass through.

The allied plan is, to fortify in their present position to meet the German attack with all the advantages possible so that they can inflict heavy loss upon any attacking force while themselves escaping with a minimum of loss.

Why the Germans hang back so long is variously explained. They have been badly demoralized since the taking of Mt. Kemmel and now they are gathering all the forces available for another final effort to end it all "before the Americans arrive."

The Huns will find that one of the greatest obstacles to their advance will be the American forces at which they have so often sneered.

The battle will soon be resumed and we expect to see Germany get a worse beating in this case than she suffered in the recent drive.

McADOO VS. CONGRESS

Secretary McAdoo wants a war revenue measure passed by the present congress before adjourning; but there is a decided disinclination among many members of both parties to take the matter up before the elections.

Some are of the opinion that to deal properly with such a measure would incur the displeasure of the electorate and, therefore, result in the defeat of some of the members who are to seek re-election.

The people must expect new taxes, heavier than have yet been imposed, and if Secretary McAdoo must have the money in order to meet the needs of the government, the people are not likely to object.

Secretary McAdoo wants to raise a reasonable share of the war expenditures from taxation. Congress would have him call for another Liberty loan. He will have to do so later on and perhaps many times, but the fact remains that the property owners of the land, the wage earners and all who have the money to give must yield a fair proportion of it for war expenditures. It would have a bad effect upon our finances to borrow too heavily. All these loans bear interest and it will require considerable straight revenue to meet this interest and the loans when they mature.

The congressmen feel that they could not easily pass a revenue bill before October 1, which would leave them very little time to explain matters to their constituents. They up their steadfast dream of liberty and nationality. When we entered the war and these men were drafted they were glad to garb themselves in khaki and fight for Uncle Sam. It was their heaven-sent chance to even up a score written by the Hun in blood and tears.

And then last winter these men of the subject races were told they were not wanted. They were enemy aliens, because subjects of an empire that their very lives had taught them to curse. They were told they could take their honorable discharge and go back to their places of employment. But many of them did not leave. They wanted to do something in the war against tyranny. So they were put upon "permanent fatigue" and given various unsoldierly jobs. Still they stuck.

Now men who display that kind of spirit, men who constitute some of the finest fighting material in the world, should not be rejected upon a technicality. We are fighting to make subject races free. It is inconsistent to say we will not allow members of those subject races to help us do the fighting. There should be place in the ranks for every Slav who wants to identify himself with America and the American army. The war department should recommend and congress should pass laws that would take these men out of their impossible position. Of course great care is necessary to prevent real enemies entering the army but it seems it would be easy to distinguish in such cases between the real alien enemy and the alien friend.

England, Canada, France welcome them into their armies. Why should not we? Why should these men, whose work has been manifest in the upbuilding of so many of our industries, be forced to go elsewhere to do their fighting?

If we lose these good citizens now we lose them forever. If England, Canada and France extend to them the hand of full fellowship, they will never come back here. The lands that give them a coveted opportunity to fight will be the ones in which they will dwell when the battling is over and the victory won.

General Crowder's judgment on this question should be sound as it is on other important issues.

We are pledged to aid Russia. If the Slavs join us in that desirable aim they should be given an opportunity.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Note:—Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come later.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Beginning this afternoon and continuing tomorrow and Wednesday, three first class vaudeville acts and a big feature picture will provide the program at the B. F. Keith theatre. In addition the second instalment of "The Battle of Picardy" will be produced.

Charles Moriarty & Co.—two men and a woman—will give their plot of laughter, called "Art and Stupidity." It is impossible to adequately describe the antics of this trio. What they do is done wholly to buoy up people, and everywhere these funsters go they succeed admirably in changing over frames of mind.

Manning, Fenney & Knowles in a little bit of everything are also much thought of as funmakers. The three men are known all over the vaudeville circuits. They sing and dance and chatter away in a manner that gets them a lot of applause.

The third act on this bill will be "Vim, Beauty and Health," a novel acrobatic trio. The men work with a great deal of dash, and they are perfectly developed. The woman is of uncommon beauty of figure, and she, too, does some quite unusual work.

A new picture with an old idea is "The Guilty Man," which will be produced the first half of the week. In a broad sense the motif has to do with the awakening conscience in a human soul—the soul of a man who has done a woman the greatest wrong that can be done her. The hypothetical question confronting the audience is this: If a woman, deserted by the man she trusted, brings forth a daughter into an environment of evil, and the daughter, as the result of her surroundings, commits a crime, who is to blame?

The answer is found in the title of the production, "The Guilty Man." Gloria Hope as the daughter, and Vivian Reed as the mother, and William Greenwood in the title role, rise to superb heights in their portrayals.

"The Battle of Picardy," above referred to, represents the first motion picture of the Germans' great drive, March last, to reach this country. The opening instalment was shown last week. In the second there will be depicted the price the Huns paid for their advance. These pictures are absolutely authentic and they are shown by arrangement with the military authorities of this country and our allies.

There will be three performances daily—one in the afternoon and two at night.

ARMY DOCTORS SAY: RADWAY'S READY RELIEF

Better Than ALL OTHER PAIN REMEDIES

A LETTER from Dr. Simpson of the Anderson Zouaves, N. Y. (62d Regt.), says:

"During the time our regiment was stationed on Riker's Island we were out of medical stores. I obtained some of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF and used it with greater success in the treatment of Bowel Complaint, Colds, Rheumatism, Chills, Pains, Aches and Soreness of the limbs than all other remedial agents."

This letter was also approved by Col. Riker, Lieut. Col. Tidwell and Gen. Oscar V. Dayton of the same regiment.

THE STRAND

June Elvidge, whose personal acquaintance in Lowell number into the hundreds, will be featured in "The Old-Fashioned Love," the other big feature of the Strand, beginning with matinee today. You can't afford to miss this wonderful picture. Miss Elvidge is supported by John Bowers, Elsie Clements and others of equal rank. It's a gripping story and unfolds many interesting situations.

Bert Lytell, the well known romantic actor, in his latest release, "The Trail of Yesterday," is the other big feature. Besides being an unusual story, it provides wonderfully good scenic effects. The Toto comedy and the Pathé Weekly are other contributions that will help make the bill of first three days of the week a most enjoyable one. The musical features given by the Strand Symphony Players always proves enjoyable. The organ numbers by Conductor Martel are most commendable. The week's soloist will be Miss Dorothy Neff.

Remember The Strand is always cool, clean and comfortable. A parking space for motorists who wish its use is offered them in the rear of the theatre just off Warren street. No extra charge.

MAN, WIFE AND TWO CHILDREN KILLED

BIDDEFORD, Me., May 27.—Scott Palmer, aged 15, and Edison Palmer, aged 11, who were frightfully injured when their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Palmer of Rochester, N. H., were killed at Bragdon Crossing, Wells Beach, yesterday, as the result of their automobile having been struck by a train died at the Webber hospital early this morning. Doris, their 10-year-old sister, who has a fracture of the shoulder, as a result of the accident, is believed to be out of danger.

The Palmer family was returning to Rochester, N. H., after an excursion to Wells Beach. A barn hides the view of Bragdon's Crossing, which is about a quarter of a mile from the Wells Beach station, and the train was upon the car before Scott Palmer, who was driving, could stop.

THE PRESIDENT MAY SAVE BASEBALL

If the Crowder order goes through in its original form it will sound the death knell to baseball in major and minor leagues.

There is only one reason to believe it will not go through as originally given out, that being a statement from President Wilson made early in the war.

The president said that he considered the continuation of healthful sports an essential factor in war times and that he could see no reason why sports should be discontinued.

In his statement President Wilson did not differentiate between professional and amateur sports, between baseball and any other form of athletic activity.

His word will be final in the Crowder order and undoubtedly great pressure will be brought to bear to have him make some exceptions in the case of baseball.

Millions of dollars worth of property will be rendered practically valueless if baseball is discontinued. Hundreds of thousands of dollars in revenues will be cut off from the federal government through the war tax paid at the gate.

Whether the government can better stand this loss by putting a few hundred men to work at jobs they know absolutely nothing of is a question for the administration to solve.

Against the order also stands the theory that the people at large need amusements to divert their minds occasionally from the war.

The following figures show why it will be impossible for baseball to continue should the order go through.

The latest "Who's Who in Baseball," a book devoted to the records of major league players, and considered authentic, lists 221 major league ballplayers of whom six are not now actively engaged in the game. Of the 215 remaining 42 are already in service. Out of the 173 remaining but 11 do not come under Crowder's order, leaving 162 who must quit baseball if the order goes into effect.

These figures are not exact as this book does not publish a list of youngsters who broke in this year, a few of whom are too young to come under the order.

But it would be manifestly impossible to fill the shoes of the 162 directly affected by the order.

The Crowder order includes in part persons, including ushers and other attendants, engaged and occupied in and in connection with games, sports and amusements, excepting actual performers in legitimate concerts, operas and theatrical performances.

Professional boxing would not be hit so hard by the order as many boxers could continue their boxing at night while following some useful occupation during the day.

Racing will be affected as most of the jockeys are within the draft age, but harness racing will not be so seriously hit, drivers, as a general rule being over the age.

RAISED BIG SERVICE FLAG

GOV. McCALL SPEAKING AT FLAG RAISING EXERCISES

Thousands of People Hear Gov. McCall and Other Speakers at St. Louis' Church

A service flag containing 210 stars, one of which was a gold star to the memory of the late Private Adelard Julien, who died while in the service, was raised to the top of the 65-foot staff in front of St. Louis' church in West Sixth street yesterday afternoon and the exercises, which were attended by nearly 10,000 people, will mark a notable event in the history of the young but prosperous parish. Governor Samuel W. McCall and Mayor Perry D. Thompson as well as Rev. B. Cabanel, chaplain of the "Blue Devils" in France, who spent 23 months in the trenches, graced the occasion by their presence. Rev. Fr. Cabanel delivered the sermon in the church prior to the blessing of the flag, and in the course of his remarks he told the parishioners that out of the 210 young patriots of the parish who left all that was dear to them to respond to the call to arms, probably not one would return, and the only way their lives can be saved is with prayers and sacrifices. Governor McCall paid a flattering tribute to the parish and to the French people in general for their quick response to the call of the country.

The program of the afternoon consisted of a street parade, a church ceremony and outdoor patriotic exercises, and the entire program was carried out without the slightest hitch and to the satisfaction of all interested. The weather was ideal for such an occasion, the singing by the church choir both inside and outside of the church was very pleasing, while the sermon and speeches proved interesting and instructive.

In the early part of the afternoon those who were scheduled to take part in the parade assembled at the quarters of the Centralville Social club in Island street and at 1:30 o'clock the "forward march" command was given by Chief Marshal Albert Bruchaud and the line swung into Lakeview avenue and then into West Sixth street as far as the church. The United States Cartridge Co. band, with J. B. Z. Lebrun as leader, headed the parade and the various organizations that participated were as follows: Company K, State Guard, Garde Sacre-Coeur of Notre Dame de Lourdes, two companies of the A. G. Cadets, Troop 26, Boy Scouts of Notre Dame de Lourdes, desroze team, St. Therese council, U.S.J. Red A.L. degree team, Court Blanche de Castille, F.F.A., Garde d'honneur, detail of men from Camp Devens, reception committee and a great number of men of the parish. The aids to the chief marshal were Arthur Demers, Eugene Vincent, Joseph Allard and Auguste Jodoin. The two centre aisles had been reserved for those participating in the parade and before the church service opened the church was filled to overflowing. The choir under the direction of Olier J. David with Miss Ida Monrain at the or-

AMATEURS TUESDAY NIGHT

There were 1,500,000 soldiers in France, "Now," he said, "there are 2,500,000 and probably before a great while this number will be doubled. France opened the defensive against the Germans and France and America will win the war. We came to your rescue when you were fighting for independence and to our assistance. I did not know America prior to my coming to this country last November, but since that time I have learned to love America as I do 'La Belle France.' Fr. Cabanel closed his sermon by exhorting his listeners to pray, pray, and again pray and make sacrifices for the boys of the soldiers on French soil and if these instructions were followed it may not be a great while before their is another reunion of parishioners in St. Louis to celebrate the victory of the allies, for God will hear favorably the prayers offered Him.

At the close of the sermon the choir sang "Land of the Living" and Bernadette Fontaine, Messrs. Jules Morissette and O. J. David. The large service flag was then blessed by the pastor of the parish and all repaired to the front of the church, where the outdoor patriotic exercises were held.

Gov. McCall Speaks

The speakers and guests occupied chairs on a specially erected platform at the front of the church and Narcisse Gadbois, chairman of the committee, presided. The platform was handsomely decorated with American and French flags and the scene was a most pleasing one. The service flag preceded by an American flag was raised to the top of the mast by Gov. McCall while the church choir, accompanied by the band, sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

In opening the exercises Chairman Gadbois made a few remarks of introduction and he introduced as the first speaker Gov. McCall, who spoke in part as follows:

"These are patriotic times. I have today attended a mass by 50,000 people in the open air, at which the cardinal was present. I attended a similar service in New York. All these services are animated by one feeling of love for the flag, just as all creeds and races are fighting for it."

"This flag, studded with stars as thick as the Milky Way, represents Catholic boys. Another flag will represent Protestant boys, and all fighting under the stars and stripes."

"As governor of the state, it has been my duty to help muster into the service of the country nearly 100,000 men from this commonwealth alone, to go to the help of France. We have hundreds of thousands of American boys there and will increase that number rapidly."

"We are fighting an enemy that is devoted to the arts of war. We practice the arts of peace. But we must remember that he has ranged against him the great civilized nations of the world—Italy, chivalrous France, England to the north, stretching all over the globe with a model parliamentary system; and finally America, with its people from all over the world. And these four great nations can never be defeated by any combination of Germans and Turks."

"I hope your boys will return. But I want to tell you that the whole state is back of them and others like them and hopes fervently that they may return conquerors."

Rep. Henri Achin

Rep. Henri Achin was the next speaker and in the course of his remarks he urged his listeners to do their "bit" by investing in Liberty bonds and contributing their share to the Red Triangle, Knights of Columbus and Salvation Army war funds and he concluded that the state will look after the interests of the soldiers who are at the front. Other speakers were Henri T. Leclerc, president general of Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amérique and postmaster at Nashua, N. H.; Senator Arthur W. Colburn and Mayor Perry D. Thompson. The exercises closed with the singing of "La Marseillaise" and "O Canada" by the choir. The members of the reception committee were: Pierre A. Brousseau, Narcisse Gadbois, John A. Roy, John P. Beaulieu, Joseph Delorme, Maxime Lepine, Wilfred Barrette, George H. Perrault, Alfred Berthou, Arsene Trudel and Ernest Provencal.

Among the clergy present from other parishes were Rev. Louis Bruchaud, O.M.I., and Rev. Charles Denzot, O.M.I., of St. Joseph's parish and Rev. J. B. Barrette, O.M.I., and Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., of Notre Dame de Lourdes parish. The Zouaves of this parish were also present in a body. The committee in charge of the exercises was as follows:

Centralville Social club, Albert Bruchaud and Narcisse Gadbois; J. N. Jacques council, Pierre A. Brousseau, Adolphe Bouchard and Thomas Roncheur, Branch St. Louis of the Americans, Arsene Trudel, Armand Trudel and Louis E. ## MATRIMONIAL

A pretty marriage took place last evening at St. Joseph's rectory, when Arthur Gionet, a prominent member of the C.M.A.C. and employed as accountant in the office of the Boot mill, and Miss Claire Lebel, a prominent young resident of Pawtucketville, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock at St. Joseph's rectory by Rev. Julien Racette, O.M.I. The bride wore a dark satin suit and picture hat and carried a bouquet of roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Aldea Lebel, who wore a white dress with picture hat and carried a bouquet of white flowers. The bridegroom was a brother of the groom, Leonard Gionet. At the close of the ceremony a brief reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Almo Gionet, 155 Fourth avenue, and later in the evening the happy couple, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left on a brief honeymoon trip to New York and upon their return they will make their home at 312 Moody street.

Friday evening the bride was tendered a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. William Gionet in White street by about 50 friends, and included in the gifts presented her was a handsome silver chest. A sister of the bride, Miss Aldea Lebel, who acted as bridesmaid at the wedding, will leave this evening for La Patrie, Que., where Wednesday morning she will be united in marriage to Arthur Leclair. On the occasion of her approaching wedding the young woman was tendered a farewell party at the home of Miss Alma Laplante, 190 Pawtucket street, Friday evening, and was presented a fine silver chest. Present at the festivities were about 40 friends of the young woman, all employees of the looping department of the Lawrence mill, where Miss Lebel was employed, and they spent a most enjoyable evening. A buffet luncheon was served and a delightful musical program was given by Misses Helena Delisle, Aldea Lebel, M. Bernier, Josephine Lamoureux and Mrs. Joseph Millette.

UNCLE SAM SPEEDS UP ON SOLDIER TRAINING

BY J. R. GROVE

(Artist who has spent most of the past nine months at army cantonments "putting the grin into the fight.")

It takes a third less time to train an American soldier now than it did last year.

Uncle Sam is making soldiers out of raw selective service men in six months. It used to take from eight to nine months and at some cantonments even longer.

It is confidently predicted that before this year is over soldiers will be turned out, ready for the finishing touches in France, in three months. No other country has ever manufactured such well trained troops in so short a time.

Thirty-three per cent. of the time has already been cut off the drafted men's training period. This may be reduced another 50 per cent.

Surely, the "Hurry" call for "over there" has been heard. And the men are not being sent over half trained.

This extraordinary speed is due to the fact that every training camp is so well equipped in every way that the men now can get the full course of training in two-thirds of the time their brothers needed last fall and winter.

I have spent most of my days since the first selective service men were called in training camps. I have watched the gradual speeding up in training.

When I first went down the men found training grounds but half ready for them. There were no rifle ranges, guns, bayonets, ammunition were lacking. Uniforms were few and far between. There was a shortage of officers. Ambulances, trucks, medical supplies and doctors were lacking.

In those days last fall, men often lived in their overalls and derby hats for weeks.

Today, they slide into uniforms the day after they strike camp.

Then they drilled with bayonets. Now a gun is shoved into their hands within 48 hours. Artillery and horses were nowhere. Today they are everywhere.

The men had to help with cantonment work, grading, digging, getting things ready. Now everything is ready for them. They hop right to the rifle range and so to it. Last fall they lost valuable time which might have been put in learning to shoot, because of the lack of range and rifle.

Now the newcomers look like soldiers in a week. It's hard for the visitor to tell the difference. Often I can only distinguish between the rookies and regulars by listening for that 1-2-3-4 count the newly made soldier always utters and the regular never.

There is plentiful supply of non-coms, who can take a bunch of clerks and farmers in hand and work wonders with them.

In some instances, men drilled for weeks without touching a bayonet. Now they get that Hun-stabber just as soon as they climb into the khaki.

Then men got sick and sick men didn't recover so quickly, all because the hospital equipment wasn't what it is today. Those men lost valuable time.

Today fewer are ill and those who are get such fine care that they get on their feet in a shorter time. I am sure that every camp is 100 per cent. better equipped for taking care of the ill.

Further speeding up is done by night hikes, something new in the way of training.

Men who go to camps in June will be ready for France on New Year's day.

was convoked, and because it was opposed to the Bolsheviks, Lenin disappeared in a manner worse than the czar had employed in dispersing the gunas which, representing the supreme will of the people, had demanded political and social reforms for the country.

According to Lenin, he is absolutely opposed to all imperialistic wars and even "to revolutionary defense" of Russia. According to his views, the army officers should "not be elected, but every step of every officer and general must be subject to the control of special soldiers' committees"; he thinks that "it is absolutely necessary in all countries at war to encourage all attempts at fraternization between the soldiers of both warring groups."

Now when fraternization and the system of soldiers' control has brought the Russian army to complete disintegration, and the enemy, in spite of the "peace," is moving deeper and deeper into the heart of the country, even the Bolsheviks are talking about the necessity for building a new army with the old professional officers returned to their posts, with independence for the officers in the entire sphere of the military command, with the subordination of the commanding staff only to the government of the country.

Discussing the relation of the different political parties to socialism, Lenin declared that the councils "must at once take every practical and feasible step for the realization of socialism." Now, when the Bolshevik kind of "realization" of socialism has resulted in the utmost disorganization of Russia's industries, transportation, and finance, the Bolsheviks begin to speak about the necessity for co-operation with the bourgeois elements.

Does it mean that the Bolsheviks, as a faction, have changed their minds and, from a destructive have become a constructive element in the country? No, unfortunately, it does not. After realizing what their being in power has caused the country, do they endeavor to establish, instead of their tyranny, a democratic government which shall include the best representatives of Russia's mind and statesmanship and be recognized by all classes? Do they call the constituent assembly, a body elected on the basis of the most democratic suffrage in the world, with soldiers and women participating in the elections? No, they do not. The great country is disintegrating, dying before their eyes; the Teutonic divisions, released from the eastern front, are endangering the democracies of the west, and they, the new dark force in Russia's life, still cling to their power, because the few ideas born of their minds are dearer to them than Russia's existence, even the world's existence. "Only the grave can make a hunchback straight," says a Russian proverb.

"I have had the pleasure of meeting some of the new-born friends of the 'soviet government,' and among the best of them I found the following naïve conception. 'The soviet government,' they say, 'is a government of the councils of workers' soldiers' and peasants' delegates; that means that the Russian proletariat and the Russian peasantry is back of them.' Impressed by such a picture, I asked these friends of the soviet government: 'What is the matter, why, if the proletariat and the peasantry support the Bolsheviks, do they not call an All-Russian constituent assembly?' The peasantry alone constitute about 55 per cent. of Russia's population, and if the Bolsheviks would control the constituent assembly, almost every Russian would recognize their leadership as a national leadership."

This question almost always embarrasses the friends of the Bolsheviks. The answer is simple. The Bolsheviks dispersed the first constituent assembly with bayonets, and would have to disperse the second because the country is against them, and this would be demonstrated at the general election. The majority of the All-Russian council of peasants' delegates and the party of the Russian peasantry, the party of the socialist-revolutionists, through its central committee, opposes the Bolsheviks at every step. It should be understood that the Bolsheviks rule in Russia, not because of their strength, but because of the temporary weakness of the great people, prostrated by the terrible crimes committed against them by the old regime, and by the disorganization of the industrial and financial life of the country, increased by the Bolsheviks.

Not only Russia and the Bolsheviks

SOME BASEBALL MANAGERS FIND THEIR "TALL SLIMS" ARE REGULAR "ACES"

Some managers, past and present, have insisted that their boxmen be above the average in height.

John McGraw has belonged to this class (to his sorrow in 1914) when he saw one of his cast-offs, Dick Rudolph, who had been dropped from the Giants on account of his small stature, lead the drive which resulted in the Braves beating the Giants to the wire by a substantial margin.

But as a general rule the great pitchers have been men of the six-foot class. Mathewson, Alexander, Johnson, Bender, Coombs, Plank, Rubeck, Ruth and Vaughn are all right round six feet. All were great pitchers.

The great little pitchers in recent years have been rather scarce.

are different and, in many respects, conflicting phenomena, but even the Russian revolution and the Bolsheviks have little in common. The Russian revolutionary democracy repudiates them, and the greatest Russian revolutionary and socialist leaders, as I. G. Tseretelli, B. C. Breshkevskaya (the grandmother of the Russian revolution), Peter Kropotkin, George Plekhanoff, V. M. Chernoff, and others, consider their enemies of the revolution, who, by reducing the revolution to absurdity, by doing their best to provoke a reaction in Russia.

If this is so, why do the Bolsheviks last so long? The answer is simple: The opposition of the country is passive because the country is exhausted, and, on the other hand, the Bolsheviks have the support of the disorganized remnants of the army because they allow the soldiers to do as they please. The Bolsheviks are playing at "government," are issued decrees, orders, and laws, but, in fact, their fundamental principle may be expressed, as someone suggested by the brief phrase, "help yourself." The soldiers help themselves, and this kind of a "democratic government" naturally appeals to them.

With the mobilization of the army, and the lack of food in the cities, the remnants of the army are beginning to disappear. When this same soldier returns to his village and his home, and Eddie Cicotte of 1917 world series fame, Dick Rudolph, Carl Mays the submarine artist, Earl Hamilton, the 1918 National league sensation and George Foster are the most noteworthy. These men have been called diminutive, but none of them is under five feet nine, which in any other line would be considered a fair height.

This brings up the question of the super-pitchers—those ranging far over six feet and their effectiveness.

This story was suggested by the fact that Slim Love of the Yankees is the most dependable of Juggins' boxmen this season.

Love stands half a foot over six feet and when he stretches out his long left pitching arm he can almost reach the batter's nose.

Love is due to become one of the greats in the box game this season if early indications do not miscarry. As brother string beans on the same club Love has Ray Caldwell, who measures about four inches over six feet, and Mourie an inch taller than Ray.

The Giants brag a couple of super pitchers in Tetreau, six feet three inches, and Sallee who admits the same height.

Across the bridge in Brooklyn

Rube Marquard towers six feet four inches above his toes.

The St. Louis Browns have a near monopoly of tall slims in the west with Dave Davenport, whose swift form sticks six feet seven inches into the air and Grover Lowdermilk, two inches shorter. When Carl Wellman was with the club he fitted in just between the two.

The navy got two baseball string beans, Eppa Jephtha Rixey, whose needle-like figure took up six feet five inches of horizontal space, and Ernie Shore who measured six feet four and one-half inches.

PAUL FURMAN.

AND NOW

Selective service rookies are put into uniforms, given guns and bayonets, and sent to rifle ranges immediately.

EXISTENCE OF BOLSHEVIKI MEANS DEATH OF RUSSIA

Following is an article by A. J. Sack, director of the Russian Information Bureau of this country and an authority on Russian affairs.

The evolution of Bolshevism is the theme of today. There are some people who point to this phenomenon and make every effort to show that the Bolshevik government is now tending to constructive work. This theme is of extreme importance, and therefore I would like to discuss it, at least briefly. A few months ago several American newspapers published an interesting document called "Lenine, on the Political Parties in Russia." By quoting from this document we will be able to see that Bolshevism is really undergoing a certain evolution, and then we will see whether there are any promises for constructive work in this evolution of Bolshevism.

As some of the readers may remember, in this document Lenine answered, from his point of view, many of the important questions in Russian life. The document is interesting, as reflecting the very soul of Bolshevism. It is an extremely hypocritical soul. According to Lenine, the constituent assembly had to be called "as soon as possible." The Bolsheviks had accused the provisional government more than once of delaying the constituent assembly. It was only natural that Lenine should make the same accusation in the pamphlet issued before the Bolsheviks came into power, and that he should state that "the strengthening of the power of the councils, the organizing and arming (?) of the masses" was the only condition under which the assembly could be "really convoked," that "only thus can the assembly be assured."

Eventually the constituent assembly

SUNDAY BASEBALL

Kimballs Defeat Camp Devens Team at Spalding Park

The Kimballs of this city defeated the ordinance team from the depot headquarters of Camp Devens at Spalding park yesterday afternoon, 4 to 3, in the most Sunday game ever played on that well known diamond.

Incidentally 3000 or so fans contributed a bountiful amount of money for the benefit of the soldiers' fund.

The game itself was interesting and on the whole well-played affair. The winning run was scored in the ninth on a squeeze play and at no stage did the set-to border on the monotonous. The visitors got one in the first and Lowell tied things up in the third when the home team came in the fourth and four then on until the eighth each nine was supplied in the octave, however, the soldiers evaded matters and it looked like an overtime game until Jimmie Liston scored the fourth Kimball tally on Allen's bunt.

It seemed like old times to have the grandstand filled and the bleachers nearly filled with fans. When the game started there wasn't a seat to be had in the enclosed section and many of the fair sex were "game" enough to stand throughout the contest. In fact, there were as many as men in the grandstand and they weren't at all "silly" when it came to expressing their feelings at an exciting period of the contest.

Bobby Keeler was the arbiter of the afternoon and he did his usual work manlike job, thank you. And seeing that it was all for a good cause Robert's call of the fans was not only a good thing, but a necessary one. The only men to do any collecting and although the total wasn't announced, the grins on their faces seemed to portend a lot of nourishment for their fund.

The weather man was a little frigid in his attitude and as the game wore on and the fans were compelled to leave because of this fact. The majority stuck it out, however. Wheeler Fuller, former Lawrence New England star, was on the mound for the soldiers and he pitched a good game but received anything but heart support. Four errors, most of them of the disastrous kind, didn't help the lowell any. Nine strikeouts give evidence that he was on the job. Mulno pitched for the Kimballs and although unable to groove the ball in the early stages of the game, eventually he came around and nearly tied his opponent's breeding record. Mulno struck out eight would-be sluggers. He passed three men and Fuller.

Schonborn at shortstop for the locals was the fielding luminary and nothing went near him without being gobbled. Jimmie Liston caught a good game and Allen at second base contributed three hits to the general wood, two singles and a double and then won the game on a sacrifice. Durkin, a Lowell boy, played right field for the soldiers and was "there" at all stages. He contributed one hit which scored Camp Devens' first run. Murphy, a former Broadway star, played at third and centre for the ordinance team, and got two hits. Wagner also played right for the soldiers, but he didn't make a very favorable impression. Perhaps the fans were led to expect too much because he had been touted as the brother of the famous Hous.

Lowell touched up Fuller for 15 hits while Mulno held the soldiers down to five.

The visitors got one on the first when Salvas was passed, stole second, was sacrificed to third and came home on Durkin's single to left. Cuna of the Kimballs evaded matters in the third when he got on through Charpentier's boot a high and came home on "Big" Falls' grounder which was slow enough to prevent anyone getting it home before the runner.

In the fourth the Kimballs got two more. Allen and Delville each got a single to right. Schonborn hit to third but Murphy was quick to throw to Allen's home. Mulno hit to right and Delville scored.

Everything was quiet until the eighth when the military men tied the score. Wagner singled and went to second on Salvas' out. Graywatts singled to left but succeeded in getting to second while Falls was throwing to the plate. Wagner was held on third. Then Murphy cleared up with a single to left. This ended the ordinance activities.

In the latter part of the ninth with one gone, Liston filed to centre but the holders refused to touch it. Kelly, Allen and Jimmie went to third. Then came Allen's perfect bunt and the winning run. The score:

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.—Middlesex, ss. Probate Court.
To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, and all other persons interested in the estate of said deceased, notice is hereby given that a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court for probate, by Amos A. Adams, who prays that letters of administration with the will annexed may be issued to him, or some other suitable person, the executor named in said will having deceased.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the fifth day of June, A. D. 1918, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each issue of the Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twentieth day of May, in the year one thousand nine hundred and eighteen.

Continuing, he said: "This country is God's last great experiment in government. And this government came into being because men had convictions which they were willing to live for and to die for. This government, men and women who have lived and died for it, are inspirations for other lands. This government is a great power among the nations of the world."

"And now we, our country, is again engaged in an unselfish struggle for humanity. This time the scope of our warfare is enlarged. We are fighting for the freedom of the world as well as for the rights of America. A fierce, unstratified tiger is loose among the nations."

"Germany's standards of right and of international justice are the standards of the tiger of the jungle. She aims to rule the world by brute force and physical might. Germany must and will be destroyed. Her spirit has fallen upon the young men of the age and with the same dauntless courage and determination that characterized you they are rallying to the country's aid."

"But this Memorial day belongs to the veterans of the Civil war. Let us remind you for this and for your city that we are not satisfied to place flowers on the graves of your comrades, but we wish also to glorify your hearts with the choicest flowers of our esteem and love. Your ranks are becoming thinner; each year you become more venerable, but you remain among us examples of patriotism and manly remaining years be filled with abundance of peace and love, until you answer to the roll call in the morning."

The exercises concluded with the singing of "America" and benediction by Rev. Mr. Porrey.

BOOSTS RAILWAY WAGES

the wage commission's recommendations in the following particulars:
The principle of the basic eight-hour day is recognized, but owing to exigencies of the war situation, hours of employment are not actually reduced and overtime is to be paid pro rata. Adjustments of pay are to be made on the basis of eight cents of increase, day laborers employed mainly on track work are to get at least 21-2 cents an hour more than they received last December 31.

A minimum of 55 cents an hour is established for the shop trades, including machinists, boilermakers and blacksmiths.

Women are to receive the same pay as men for the same work, and negroes are to get the same as white men for similar employment.

New Wage Board Created

To work out a multitude of intricacies of pay among employees doing similar work in different localities and other injustices caused by varying rules of employment and conditions of organization the director general created a new board of railway wages and working conditions, consisting of the labor representatives and three railway executives, which will conduct extensive investigation and recommend wage and other employment changes.

All increases now ordered will be determined according to a percentage scale based on pay received in December, 1917. If the railroad companies have been allowed within that time will be deducted. In many cases raises in pay in the last two and a half years are about equal to the increases now approved, and consequently those employees will get little or no more. To correct just such situations when increases are applied to the employees the principal duties of the new wage board, whose creation was suggested by the railroad wage commission. In no cases are wages to be reduced.

Men working on the monthly, daily, hourly, piece work and mill basis will benefit by the new allowances and conditions of the new railway railroad bathhouse, where pay was raised through operation of the Adamson act, are to receive from 10 to 40 per cent. addition, a smaller increase than they asked of the railroad shortly before the government took control.

Applies to All Employees

The wage order applies to all employees of the 154 roads now under federal management, but not to the so-called short lines unless they are recalled by the government after July 1. It affects employees of terminal, union station and switching companies, light and power, and is owned by railroads, but not employees of railroad box lines on the lakes, rivers or coastwise traffic. Although Pullman cars now are under government operation, Pullman employees will not benefit unless the railroad administration decides to retain management of the cars.

In announcing his decision, Mr. McAdoo appealed to railroad employees to forget dissensions and disappointments arising under private control, and to remember that the success of the war depends largely on their services.

He met the expense of the wage increase, the biggest ever granted to railroad, or any other class of employees at one time, the railroad administration has discussed raising freight and passenger rates.

The percentages of wage increases range from 43 for men who received less than $10 a month, to 10 per cent. a small rate for those receiving just under $20, and no more pay is allowed men who made $25 or more in 1915. The actual additions run up to $34.

With the exception of officers and messenger boys under 18, who are given smaller raises, all employees who received less than $16 a month

35,000 AT MILITARY FLAG DAY OBSERVANCE MASS IN BOSTON

BOSTON, May 27.—The annual solemn military mass for those who have given up their lives for their country was held at Fenway Park yesterday morning. Governor McCall and Lieut. Governor Coolidge, Mayors Peters, Admiral Wood and prominent dignitaries of the state, city and nation attended.

Cardinal O'Connell presided at the mass, which was celebrated in a beautiful sanctuary erected in the middle of the infield, and so placed that those seated in the grandstand faced the altar. There must have been 30,000 persons present, and at least 5000 in the marching delegations.

The marchers were massed in the playing field and after the mass passed in review before the cardinal, the lieutenant-governor, Mayor Peters and Chief Marshal Brigadier-General John J. Sullivan. Rev. James Hayes, C.S.B., was the preacher.

BY LOWELL ELKS

The local lodge of Elks will observe Flag day, Friday, June 14, with a parade and outdoor exercises on the South common in the evening. John P. Farley is chairman of the committee on arrangements and other members include: Dr. T. F. Carroll, Maj. Walter R. Jones, William H. Mahon, Capt. A. B. Mitchell and John J. Healey.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson is chief marshal of the parade which will be held at 7:30 in the evening and will cover the downtown streets. Major Jones is chief of staff.

Congressman John Jacob Rogers is to be one of the speakers at the exercises on the common and another speaker of national reputation is also to be secured. Invitations are being sent out to various organizations to take part in the demonstration.

HELD INQUEST

An inquest into the cause of death of Maurice Welch was held before Judge John J. Pickman in the court of second sessions this morning. Welch and a companion, both of whom reside in Nashua, were riding in an automobile on the boulevard on the night of May 20th when the front wheels of the machine struck a pile of sand, the auto was overturned and Welch sustained injuries which resulted in his death a few hours afterwards.

MR. PELTON HONORED

Mr. Albert Pelton, a well known overseer in the Lawrence Manufacturing company, was pleasantly surprised by his employees last Saturday noon when he severed his connections with that company. As a token of the esteem in which this popular overseer is held by the girls, he was presented a purse of gold, and a letter of appreciation. Although taken completely by surprise, he responded in a very fitting manner, and thanked the givers for remembering him so kindly. Mr. Pelton resides in Draught, and has been employed in the establishment for the past nine years, where he has won a host of friends. Mr. Pelton leaves for Fort Sumner this week, and the best wishes of his many friends go with him for the best of good luck and success in his new work with Uncle Sam.

SCHOOL FOR OFFICERS

The three commissioned officers and three non-commissioned officers from each of the local state guard companies will go to the National Academy on the Lawrence road next Saturday and Sunday and will hold a school for officers. Maj. A. W. R. Jones of this city is to be one of the instructors. The Lowell men will leave here at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and will return Sunday evening. Cots have been provided for them to sleep in the building and the headquarters company of the guard will look after their mess.

VICTORY GARDENS

Although hundreds of garden lots have been disposed of by the war garden committee, Secretary Charles T. Union stated this morning that the committee has more good lots to give out in various parts of the city, and people who have made up their mind to conduct a war garden during the summer and who have not yet secured their lots had better make application at once at the office of the committee in the park department office at city hall.

The local evening newspaper is the paper that reaches the home when the whole family is there to read it. The Sun fills this field in Lowell.

RATES INCREASED

er both class and commodity rates, become effective June 25, and the passenger increase will go into effect June 10.

Issued under authority granted by the railroad act to President Wilson acting through the director general, the order wipes out all intrastate lower rates effective on either freight or passenger traffic.

Travelers in standard sleeping and parlor cars are required to pay 1-1/2 cents a mile in addition to Pullman fares and in tourist sleeping cars 1-1/4 cents. Pullman rates remain the same.

Commutation and other suburban rates on railroads are increased 10 per cent. Fares on electric interurban lines are not affected.

Special excursion, mileage, convention and tourist rates, with a few exceptions, are discontinued, privileges such as stop-overs and free side trips are abolished, and excess baggage charges are increased.

Both freight and passenger rates on boat lines operated on the lakes, rivers or coastwise by railroads are to be raised proportionately with the general increases.

Export and import freight rates are ordered cancelled, and the higher domestic rates will apply to and from ports.

A number of flat increases, instead of percentage additions, are ordered for coal, coke, lumber, ore, stone, grain, cotton, livestock, meats, sugar, bullion and other commodities.

Existing differentials and rate relationships between various localities are to be preserved as far as possible, but many adjustments will have to be made later.

All rates are subject to review and correction by the interstate commerce commission.

Big Increases In Everything

In announcing that the rate increases are required by public interest, Director General McAdoo referred to the $400,000,000 or more added to the payrolls of railroad labor under an order published today; to the rapidly rising cost of coal, which he estimated this year alone at $18,000,000 more than last year; and to higher cost of every other material entering into railroad transportation. Operating expenses, he estimated, would be between $300,000,000 and $350,000,000 greater this year than the $285,000,000 figure of last year.

No part of the increased rates is on account of the program of nearly a billion dollars of improvements, additions and new equipment this year, he explained.

"It is earnestly hoped," said the director general, "that all citizens affected directly or indirectly by this increase as an unavoidable war measure, will accept the additional burden in the same spirit of self-sacrifice in which they have accepted other burdens and the previous personal losses which are parts of the price that the nation is patriotically paying for the world's liberty."

Mr. McAdoo called attention to the fact that "there is no way in which the present increases will inure to private profit."

"If they turn out to be more than are needed to meet the grave public exigencies," he added, "they will promptly be readjusted so as to prevent any unnecessary burden upon the public; but pending such readjustment, the excess if any, will for the benefit of the people of the United States as a whole and not for the benefit of the private railroad owners or any of them."

To the extent that savings can be effected and to the extent that reduced prices for the things all shall be must buy, can be realized, it will be the purpose of the director general to make from time to time appropriate reductions."

The provision that intrastate rates shall be abolished wherever substitute interstate rates between the same points exist, and that all shall be raised to a standard national level, develops the first definite conflict between the powers of the federal railroad administration and the state railroad and public utilities commissions, which heretofore have claimed exclusive jurisdiction over intrastate rates. Railroad rate agents will file petitions containing the new rates with the interstate commerce commission, and state commissions are permitted to review under the railroad act.

Mr. McAdoo announced that he expected the Interstate Commerce commission to review many of the new schedules on complaint of shippers or other commercial interests, and that changes would be made on the commission's recommendations. This is necessary to readjust the nation-wide fabric of complicated rates, each interdependent on scores of others and so delicately adjusted in hundreds of cases that a change of a cent or two causes industrial and commercial disturbances. The commission probably will be busy for months hearing complaints and protests.

Excursion Fares Abolished

Passenger fares in some sparsely settled regions now more than three cents will not be reduced. Although existing excursion and tourist fares are abolished, the order permits the re-establishment of round trip tourist fares somewhat lower than the three cent rate.

Reduced Rates For Men In Service

Exceptions to the three-cent rate are made for soldiers and sailors, who may travel at one cent a mile when on furlough at their own expense, and for persons attending the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Portland, Ore., and the United Confederate Veterans' reunion at Tulsa, Okla. Both of these organizations are permitted rates of one cent a mile and for various state meetings of the veterans, two cents will be charged.

Children under five years of age will be carried free, as at present, and those between five and 12 will be charged half of the new higher fare. Commutation fares, which are raised 10 per cent, are construed to apply to persons having daily or frequent occasion to travel between their homes and places of employment or educational institutions.

Use of Parlor Cars Discouraged

To discourage the use of heavy sleeping and parlor cars, the new order provided that the following minimum number of tickets should be bought for drawing rooms, compartments or sections:

Two adult tickets for a drawing room in a sleeping car; two adult tickets for a compartment; one and one-half adult tickets for a section; five adult tickets for exclusive occupancy of a drawing room in a parlor car.

Passenger fares by water routes or by rail and water are to be increased proportionately with the higher rail charges.

The basis for computing charges for excess baggage is to be one-sixth of the normal passenger fare, with a minimum of 15 cents per hundred pounds and minimum collection of 25 cents per shipment.

The director general provided fully for the redemption of tickets and mileage books purchased before June 19 and rendered invalid after that date when the higher fares become effective. Unused portions of mileage books and unused or partly used tickets will be redeemed at their original purchase rate.

The 25 per cent. increase in freight charges will apply generally to class and commodity rates, but minor variations will be necessary in many cases. For instance, where certain relationships exist between rival commercial centers, the 25 per cent. increase will apply to the longer distance and the rate to the nearer locality will be the same number of cents less as under present schedules. In this way, charges for many short hauls will be raised more than 25 per cent.

Minimum Rates Established

The following minimum are established for the classes in the several classification territories:

Classes	1	2	3	4	5	6
Official Classification	17	12 1/2	9	7	5	4
Southern	19	16	13	11	9	7
Western	17 1/2	15	11	9	7	5

DILLON DECLARES WAR TO THE DEATH ON SINN FEIN

BALLINEBOROUGH, Ireland, May 27. (By The Associated Press.)—John Dillon, chairman of the Irish nationalist movement here yesterday declared war to the death on the Sinn Fein. The occasion for his speech was a meeting of delegates from East Cavan to decide whether the nationalist party ought to withdraw its candidate and permit the Sinn Fein, Arthur Griffith, to be elected unopposed.

Mr. Dillon's speech bristled with references to America and appeals to Irishmen not to neglect American public opinion. He declared that the Sinn Fein policy is calculated to rob Ireland of the sympathy of America and of all the democratic people throughout the world. He emphasized his denunciation of the Sinn Fein by quoting several phrases from his statement recently made to The Associated Press and added:

"Some English newspapers have quoted the interview I gave to The Associated Press of America as evidence that I have 'broken off' my alliance with the Sinn Fein. You cannot break off what has never existed."

"I am being denounced today by the Sinn Fein as an imperialist. Which I never was, and as an enemy of the true principles of Irish nationality."

"And I have repeatedly explained that while I was in favor of the Mansion House conference for the sake of presenting a united front on the single question of conscription, I was so far from believing that there was any other possible common platform with the Sinn Fein that I was more bitterly and more irreconcilably opposed to De Valera and Griffith than ever before in my life."

Devlin Urges Peace
BELFAST, May 27.—Joseph Devlin, nationalist, does not accept the government's statement regarding the alleged pro-German conspiracy in Ireland as at all conclusive of the verity of the charges, he indicated in a speech at Dungannon yesterday.

"I am afraid the government, in its confused and panic-stricken state of mind," he said, "has got German plots on the brain. Arrests have been made on a wholesale scale of Irishmen and Irishwomen on vague charges which the government are unable to prove in the only way in which charges can be proved, and that is by trying the persons before a jury of their own countrymen."

"No ex parte statements containing indefinite and unsubstantiated evidence will satisfy men of impartial mind and the Irish people will not believe one of these charges until they are proved before the only tribunal which lovers of justice and fair play recognize."

Mr. Devlin came out boldly as an advocate of peace by understanding, "Don't you think," he said, "that the time has arrived when the weight of the influence of Ireland and Irishmen the world over ought to be thrown in all to the movement, already strong in all of the belligerent countries, in favor of a just general peace? If the question of peace were submitted by a plebiscite to the rank and file of the armies of the world hostilities would cease within 24 hours."

"Everybody knows that Germany's position is as difficult and uncertain now as it is likely to be two or three years hence and that even if Germany were beaten to the dust it would be just as difficult to negotiate peace. Germany, as she says, is willing to negotiate now, is it not a crime against civilization to prolong the war a single day, let alone for an indefinite number of years?"

Referring to the powerful voices of Lord Lansdowne and others in favor of peace, Mr. Devlin said:

"If the Irish race takes up the question, it can help it forward as no other race can. If we once get a peace conference together, the question of Ireland might well be submitted to it, since British statesmanship has proved incompetent."

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Nine thousand business men have volunteered to serve all departments of the government without charge for the duration of the war. They purpose to save millions of dollars and prevent excess profits in the sale or leasing of property to the government in the great emergency.

These volunteers are all members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and are known to the country over as "Realtors," which is synonymous for expert knowledge and handling of all realty problems.

William M. Garland, president of the association, in order to make the services of these men available, came from his home in Los Angeles, Cal., to Washington and is remaining here until the work shall have become fully organized.

In the several departments where this service has already been utilized—namely, the office of the alien property custodian, the quartermaster's department of the army, the shipping board and the bureau of housing and transportation of the department of labor, these men have saved thousands of dollars in appraisements and effecting economies of hundreds of thousands of dollars in the price of realty and space desired by the government.

More than 130 real estate boards throughout the country, at the request of President Garland, have appointed special appraisal committees to serve the government without compensation as a patriotic service for the period of the war. These committees will, at the request of any officer, bureau or agency of the government make appraisals of any property to do any other necessary service without charge that will assist in winning the war.

"I SUFFERED SEVEN YEARS" Was Eventually Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered for seven long years with a lame back, irregularities and pain. I had one physician after another but they did me no good. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and gave it a trial and in a short time I felt benefited and am now feeling fine, and without weakness or pain. Many of my friends have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and been helped by it."—Mrs. MARGARET NESS, 1845 E. Hazzard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Women who suffer from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, sideache, headaches or "the blues" should not rest until they have given this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

The letters constantly being published from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

ance and four new members were admitted. After the business meeting a smoke talk was held and refreshments served. The committee in charge was composed of Brothers Charles Panof, Orin Allen and P. P. Beauregard.

FOR CAMP UPTON
Island, N. Y., the site of Camp Upton. It was a bleak, gloomy scene of a morning atmosphere, and much of the depression seemed to enter the send-off itself. There was the usual large crowd on hand and the predominance of mothers, sisters and sweethearts was especially evident. And the scenes inevitably attendant upon such circumstances were once more re-enacted. The natural asperges which the embryo soldiers received from sporadic showers was sadly complimented by tears from a sorrowful dear one.

And yet the train was finally ready for the departure. Some innate courage in both the spectators and the men themselves enabled them to cast aside their depression for a while and the train puffed out "mid hearty cheering and hand-waving. Then when all was over, the old depression once more settled upon the crowd. As for the soldiers, well, they were too much "let up" over the fact that but one car had been provided for 80 men through somebody's oversight and they were making an endeavor to push their way into the several other coaches reserved for "regular passengers."

The majority of the men assembled at their respective exemption board headquarters at 6:30 this morning and after a few words of instruction and farewell from the board officials, the train was ready to take on its patriotic cargo. Five minutes later Lowell's newest soldiers were spinning on their way to duty.

AMERICAN RELIEF FOR PORTUGUESE

LISBON, May 27.—The American government has sent a sum of money to the Portuguese government for the immediate relief of the dependents of Portuguese troops, who suffered from the recent German offensive. The American minister here had informed his government of the numerous casualties among the Portuguese and of the bravery the Portuguese troops displayed.

FIRE IN SHED
An alarm from box 41 shortly before 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in a shed near the Bagshaw Co. plant in Wilson street. The fire started in some rubbish in the cellar and made its way up the partitions. It was extinguished before any serious damage was done.

LOWELL HAS EMINENT MEMORIAL SCULPTOR

Those who have passed through outer Gorham street recently must have been attracted by the grand display of memorial art, carving in stone and marble and many memorial designs in polished granite at the workshop of John M. Pinardi, 1050 Gorham street. There are female figures, representing "Memory," a weeping mother, the Madonna, and other designs of highly artistic character. The carving and floral effects produced in marble and granite at Mr. Pinardi's shop prove beyond a doubt that he is an accomplished sculptor. Yet his forte lies in original designs. He actually chases at the willingness of the public to risk a departure from the old fashioned set pieces such as have been in vogue for hundreds of years.

The people of Lowell probably do not realize what an accomplished sculptor they have in Mr. Pinardi. Born in this country, Mr. Pinardi comes from a family of sculptors, having been brought up in the business in the workshop of his father, a noted sculptor, and still the foremost in New England.

Mr. Pinardi favors original designs that will offer an opportunity to show something out of the ordinary. He is completing such a memorial at the present time to be placed on the grave of the late Rev. Fr. Lee. He has recently filled orders for monuments in New Hampshire, Vermont and Connecticut. It is well for the people of Lowell to know that they need not go out of town when they want an artistic memorial executed in the most perfect manner. They can get anything in this line at Mr. Pinardi's works. Many expensive monuments ordered elsewhere are sent to him to be finished. He draws original designs for those who want some special idea embodied in stone or marble.

For the second time Mr. Pinardi has had to enlarge his workshops. He has now ten men employed continuously and some of them have worked in the best monumental yards in the eastern states. Lowell people who think it is necessary to go out of town to secure an artistic monument can save money by consulting Mr. Pinardi.

TO DISCUSS MILITARY TRAINING IN ALL EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS
CAMBRIDGE, May 27.—Military instructors at colleges and universities throughout the east are to meet here tomorrow upon invitation of Harvard authorities to discuss problems bearing on military training in educational institutions. The conference has been called to effect closer co-operation and bring about standardization of training. The possibility of combining all college training for the summer will be considered.

Keep Your Rugs Like New

YOU can easily regain the original beauty and coloring of your rugs by applying occasionally a soft lather of 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips. Let it remain for a few minutes, then remove with a stiff brush. Will not injure colors or fabric, as the Borax simply softens and loosens the dirt and the soap dissolves it away.

20 MULE TEAM BORAX SOAP CHIPS

will also make laundry work easy if used in this way: Make a Soap Jelly by putting three tablespoonsful of the chips into a quart of water and boil.

Add enough of this solution to the wash water to make a good suds and then soak or boil clothes as usual. Don't rub; it is unnecessary. An 8-oz. package of 20 Mule Team Borax Soap Chips equals 25c worth of ordinary laundry soap.

It's the Borax with the soap that does the work.

LOWELL'S SOLDIER DEAD

Tributes Paid Men of Two Wars at Memorial Sunday Exercises Held Yesterday

Annual Memorial Sunday exercises were held at the First Congregational church yesterday afternoon and tributes were paid to the men of two wars, that of '61 and the present great conflict. The reading of the roll of Lowell dead in the world war, 24 to date, was perhaps the most impressive part of the exercises.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson and Rev. George E. Pickard, D.D., were the principal speakers, the latter being the orator of the day. Both addresses were most inspiring and both were tinged with the significance of present day events.

There was a large attendance when "Assembly" was blown at 2:30 by Geo. E. Bryant and the members of the three local posts of the G.A.R. filed in to take their annual part in the services.

A quartet of the church and the audience joined in singing the national anthem as the opening number and this was followed by Adj. George E.

Worthington of Post 42 who read Gen. John A. Logan's order of 1868 instituting Memorial day. Rev. Arthur S. Beale, pastor of the Highland Congregational church, read Scriptural selections and Rev. David C. Pevey of Cambridge offered prayer.

Mrs. Monroe Evans sang "Let Us Have Peace," and then the roll of Civil war veterans who have passed away within the year was read by adjutants of the various posts who reported to Chairman Frank S. Pevey. "Taps" was blown after each roll call.

Adj. Worthington read the following roll for Post 42: William Frederic, Company C, Ninth Maine Infantry, and first company, V.R.C., died July 30, 1917, aged 69 years; George B. McIntire, Co. A, Tenth Maine Infantry, died March 18, 1918, aged 76 years; Albro Fletcher, Co. M, Fourth Massachusetts Heavy Artillery, died May 10, 1918, aged 82 years; M. Eugene McDougal, first lieutenant, Co. C, Third Massachusetts Cavalry, died May 16, 1918, aged 75 years.

Adj. Frank E. Butler read the roll for Post 120, as follows:

Charles F. Dane, Co. D, Sixth Mass. Infantry, died Nov. 23, 1918, aged 76; Walter Farwell, Co. A, Fifth Maine Inf., died Dec. 13, 1917, aged 72; Geo. E. Flint, 23rd N. Y. Independent Battery, died March 14, 1918, aged 73; Eugene A. Turner, musician in Co. B, Sixth Mass. Infantry, died May 9, 1918, aged 79 years; John Collins, U.S.N., died June 26, 1917, aged 76 years; Geo. M. Clark, 1st, Fourth Mass. Inf., died Aug. 16, 1917, aged 72; Charles L. Fuller, Co. H, Fourth N. H. Infantry, died Aug. 12, 1917; Peter Littlehale, Co. D, Sixth Mass. Inf., died Aug. 12, 1917, aged 31.

Adj. C. H. Horton read the roll for Post 185, as follows:

Charles B. Kitchen, Co. G, Sixth Mass. Infantry, died June 11, 1917, aged 69; John H. Colburn, Co. K, Sixth Mass. Infantry, died Oct. 14, 1917; William H. Lathrop, Co. F, 44th Mass. Infantry, assistant surgeon 55th Mass., died Dec. 25, 1917; Jonas W. Wilson, seaman, died Dec. 27, 1917; Reuben P. Charters, Battery A, Light Artillery, died Jan. 2, 1918; John P. Bateman, Co. G, 20th Maine Infantry, died April 26, 1918; Abram Keaton, Co. G, Second Maine Inf., and Co. G, Second Maine Veteran Cavalry, died April 25, 1918, aged 72; Daniel P. Ryan, Co. K, Sixth Mass. Infantry, died May 25, 1918.

Frank Coburn, secretary of the memorial committee, read the following list of veterans who have died since last Memorial Sunday, but who were not members of posts:

June 21, Michael McCarthy, ship Cumberland, U.S.N., and Co. H, Third Mass. Heavy Artillery, aged 84 years; Aug. 14, Joseph Holtham, Co. I, 45th Mass. Infantry and First Mass. Frontier Co., aged 75; Aug. 21, Horace Osmond, 16th N. H. and Second Mass. Cavalry, aged 76; Aug. 25, Franklin French, Seventh Mass. Ayling, at Barnstable, Seventh Mass. Battery, lieutenant and adjutant, 25th Mass. Inf. and for many years adjutant general of New Hampshire; Newton W. Storer, captain, Seventh Mass. Battery.

Mr. Coburn then read the roll of Low-

Mayor Thompson was introduced and his address in part was as follows:

"We should be very proud of our city today, especially during these times of war, when the nation is throbbing with the end to end, agitated by the great conflict between the democracies of the world and the baneful power of the martial, autocratic German influence.

"We should be proud of our men who have gone abroad to engage in the great battles being waged on the borders of Belgium and in northern France. Proud too should we be of our boys upon the seas, and in the armaments of our war department; proud of our people here at home, who so heartily contribute to the various agencies devoted to comfort the wounded, the sick and the dying; proud of our citizenry which has accomplished so much by their devoted adherence to the president of our country, in the conduct of the war.

PRIVATE HENRY HALL BACK FROM FRANCE

Another Lowell boy of the American Expeditionary Forces has returned from the trenches in this city with a tale of adventure and doing. Private Henry Hall, formerly of Co. M, 102d U.S. Infantry, son of Joseph and Mary Hall of 359 Lakeview avenue, has been granted an honorable discharge after six months' service in France.

Private Hall was employed in the South Lowell plant of the H. S. Card-Palace Co. under Foreman William Dudley before war was declared. He went to Hartford, Conn. in the spring of 1917 to accept a new position and there joined Co. M on May 21.

He left New Haven on Sept. 15 for Montreal. On Sept. 21 he left Halifax for overseas and arrived in Liverpool, Eng. on Oct. 2. After two days' stay here he went to Southampton and arrived at a French port on Oct. 6.

He left this port the next day and arrived at an American training camp on Oct. 8.

He went through the usual training with other members of American expeditionary forces and in January was ready to enter the trenches on the western front. He was overcome by a nervous breakdown, however, and on Jan. 28 was sent to the hospital. He remained there until early in April and on April 12 left France for this country. He arrived in New York on April 23 and was sent to Fort Ruffalo, N. Y., where he spent two weeks and a half before receiving his discharge. He arrived in Lowell a few days ago.

Private Hall is not allowed to go into detail as to the cause which led to his nervous breakdown because of instructions to the contrary by the military authorities at the time of his discharge.

He said that during the first few weeks of his stay in France conditions were anything but inviting. There was mud everywhere and it was nothing unusual to see a rat as big as a cat. While he was with Co. M, his captain, Arthur Locke, was killed in action and four regiments of the company were also lost. At one period his unit was under fire for five days and nights consecutively. Although Private Hall was sent to the hospital just as he was about to take part in the defense of a portion of the western front with his comrades, nevertheless, he himself went through several exciting adventures and one which stands out prominently is that in which one of his ears was deafened as a result of continued exposure to snow and cold.

The Lowell soldier met a number of Lowell boys in France, several of whom had been transferred to his unit. Among the Lowell men he met were Corp. Orlando E. Vinn and Private Thelma Favaron. Coming to the shock which he suffered at the time of his breakdown his memory of events was affected somewhat and he is unable to recall other Lowell men whom he met.

"Puts a healing coat on the lining of the throat."

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

A COUGH that threatens to rip and tear out the lining of the throat, that seems to jolt and jerk the chest beyond endurance, and causes an echoing thump at the back of the head as if you were hit with a sledge hammer—such a cough needs a soothing, soothing medicine like Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to coat the raw, inflamed surfaces with a healing balm.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been used in many instances of severe bronchitis, la grippe and other macking coughs that debilitate.

What Foley's Did For One Man

J. D. Entenkin, Winston, Ga., writes: "Several years ago I had a terrible attack, both lungs being inflamed. After recovering somewhat my lungs never 'cleared up' and I suffered severe pains, which I had for three months and couldn't get well. I got one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and it alone entirely cured me. It took all the soreness away and cleared my lungs. It is the most valuable medicine I ever used. I cheerfully recommend it."

This old standard remedy seems to get right at the seat of trouble, almost instantly relieves the nervous tickling in the throat, clears the passages, banishes that persistent irritation which instigates the paroxysms of coughing. One or two doses produce a desirable and welcome result.

Are You Prepared?

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound should be in every home. No cold should be neglected, however slight. It should be taken in hand promptly and checked just as soon as possible. The longer it lingers the worse for the sufferer. Go don't experiment. Get the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar today and have it ready for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. It is the most valuable medicine in the world. In 5c, 25c and $1.00 sizes.

FAREWELL PARTY AND DANCE FOR WALTER MELANSON AT HIGHLAND HALL

Walter Melanson of the International Steel Company, was the guest of honor at a farewell party and dance held in Highland hall Thursday evening. Mr. Melanson is soon to join one of the units of the national forces. He reported for work as usual Thursday evening but before beginning his labors he was escorted to Highland hall in an automobile and was presented a travelling bag, comfort kit, wrist watch and a sum of money. Mr. Marland, assistant superintendent of the company, made the speech of presentation in his usual able manner. Mr. Melanson responded gracefully and thanked his associates for their thoughtfulness. Refreshments were served and a musical program was carried out in which Miss Melanson, Miss Kervin and Mr. Mahoney participated. Dancing was also enjoyed with Danfey's orchestra furnishing music.

MANY WOMEN WANTED FOR WAR WORK

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.—More and more, as the war progresses, is the government depending upon women to perform the tremendously increased volume of work in the civil branches. The force of civilian employes in Washington, D. C., increased from 30,000 to approximately 70,000 during the first year of our participation in the war. Of this increase of 40,000 more than 25,000 are women. Women make up the increase in government offices and establishments outside of Washington in less proportion, for the reason that the greatest expansion in the field has been in the large manufacturing plants of the war and navy departments, where thousands of mechanics and laborers are employed in ship-building and in manufacturing ordnance and other war material. Women are not available for employment in trades positions to any great extent, but their services are being utilized in every way that is practicable. The United States civil service commission is calling for women for government work of not less than 60 different kinds. The list includes stenographers, typists, bookkeepers, other clerks of a score or more of classifications which require training in some special or technical line, statisticians, operators of various kinds of calculating, addressing, and duplicating machines; proof readers, clerical clerks, welfare executives, secretaries, draftsmen of a dozen kinds, telegraph and telephone operators, trained nurses, chemists, physicians, library assistants, inspectors of undergarments, finger-print classifiers, and many others.

The commission urges women to offer their services to the government at this time of great need. As men are called to the colors, women must take their places and keep the machinery behind the armed forces moving at the maximum of efficiency. Representatives of the civil service commission at the postoffices in all important cities are prepared to furnish definite information and application blanks.

Rural Carrier

The United States civil service commission has announced an examination for the county of Middlesex, Massachusetts, to be held at Ayer, town, Boston, Framingham, on June 22, 1918, to fill the position of rural carrier at Townsend Harbor and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other postoffices in the above-mentioned county. The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a postoffice in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 1877. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States civil service commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

During the continuance of the present war the commission will, in accordance with the request of the postoffice department, admit women to rural carrier examinations upon the same conditions as men.

Charwoman Examination

The United States civil service commission announces an examination for charwoman on June 3, 1918, for the purpose of filling a vacancy in the custodial service, Federal building, at Lowell, Mass., at a salary of $300 per annum.

No written examination will be given but each applicant will be required to be examined by a physician at her own expense and must submit a photograph of herself taken within two years.

Applicants must be citizens of the United States and have reached their 20th but not their 50th birthdays on the day of examination.

The required application blanks may be secured from the local secretary, at the postoffice, Lowell, after May 25, and must be filed in complete form with him on or before June 3.

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR CORP. FLANNERY

With military honors the remains of the late Corporal Edward J. Flannery, a very prominent young man of this city, who died at Camp Gordon, Georgia, May 20, were tenderly consigned to their last resting place in the Catholic cemetery yesterday afternoon and the obsequies were attended by over 5,000 people, representing all walks of life as well as fraternal and social organizations.

The funeral cortege headed by a large baroque filled to overflowing with floral offerings, led by various parts of the city, members of St. Patrick's church and a large number of Lowell soldiers from Camp Devens as well as representatives of the United States navy. Music for the occasion was furnished by Bamber's Military band and the Lowell Cadet band. The marshal of the procession was Michael J. Monahan and his chief aid was Frank J. Kierce.

When the procession reached the cemetery the organizations formed a hollow square about the grave and the committal services were read by Rev. James J. Kerrigan, spiritual director of the C. Y. M. C., of which deceased was a prominent member. During the service the members of St. Patrick's church sang "Benedictus," the solo being sustained by James E. Donnelly. Previous to the recital of the prayers the band played "The Soldier's Farewell," and at the conclusion "Sweet Repose." The squad of soldiers fired the usual volley and as the casket was lowered in the grave the flag was being lowered in the grave tips was sounded.

The St. Patrick's School Alumni association was represented at the funeral by the following delegation: Dr. Richard J. McCluskey, Paul B. McLaughlin, Michael Kelley and John P. Golden. The bearers were John O'Sullivan, Garrett Royal, John Stapleton, Michael Doherty, James McKiernan, Charles Miller, Peter McKiernan and Wakefield D. Howell.

The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

O'LEARY IS HELD IN $100,000 BAIL

NEW YORK, May 27.—John J. O'Leary, who was arrested last night in connection with the disappearance of his brother, Jeremiah A. O'Leary, on the eve of his trial for publication of alleged seditious articles, was today held in $100,000 bail when arraigned before a United States commissioner.

He is charged with conspiring to obstruct justice. In default of the extraordinarily high bail, O'Leary, who is a lawyer, was locked up in the Tombs. He will be re-arraigned before the commissioner on June 3.

The complaint alleges that O'Leary prior to Jeremiah A. O'Leary's flight, prepared a blank for his brother to sign conferring upon himself a power of attorney to attend to his brother's business affairs. Federal authorities declare the preparation of this power of attorney constitutes first-hand evidence that O'Leary knew of the intention of his brother to evade justice.

11 AMERICAN OFFICERS AND 4 MEN DECORATED

HEADQUARTERS OF THE AMERICAN TROOPS WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Saturday, May 25. (By The Associated Press).—The British military cross has been awarded to 11 American officers and four men.

Most of the officers took part in the defense of the Luce valley during the great German attack in March, being incorporated in the improvised army of Major General Carey, which held back the Germans for six days after they had broken through the British line in the region of St. Quentin.

The four privates are cited for heroic conduct on the night of Feb. 23. At great risk they removed a burning art of munitions from an ammunition dump and placed it under a standpipe, flooding the car and extinguishing the flames.

Those cited are Col. J. N. Hodges, who commanded the American engineers with Major General Carey; Captain Henry C. Galtier, Lieutenants Daniel Berner, Frank A. Evans, Percy G. E. Hault, William A. Jacques, Cornelius T. McCarty, Roy F. McHugh, John W. Sherrick, William A. Augustus Williams and William W. Sherrick; Privates Thomas L. Artubuck, Richard Parkinson, Jr., Raymond Gibson Rickerts and Arthur P. Terrell.

LATEST REPORT SAYS YON HINDENBURG HAS TYPHOID

FEVER

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 27.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, chief of the German general staff, is in a hospital at Starnburg suffering from typhoid fever, according to reports from that city. These reports state that the report of von Hindenburg's death is incorrect, but that his condition is critical.

Typoid fever is said to be spreading rapidly in the German army. Of late there have been various reports of the death of Field Marshal von Hindenburg. Some of these reports were given on the authority of German prisoners on the western front.

HOME NURSING CLASSES

THE RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

This is the last day of the Red Cross drive and hence anybody who has not been reached should come forward with a contribution before the bars are lowered. There has seldom been a drive of any kind conducted with such general enthusiasm as the present in aid of the Red Cross. In the churches yesterday it was talked from the pulpit in strong appeals. In most of the Catholic churches Cardinal O'Connell's eloquent words were quoted and vigorous language used in urging liberal support of this splendid organization. In the other churches also, the congregations were reminded of the great drive and were asked to lend their aid in putting Lowell where she belongs in this movement so indispensable for the success of the war. That is the sentiment that we wish to convey to all the people of this city who have not already contributed.

ROOSEVELT'S ATTACK

Ex-President Roosevelt, now rehabilitated in the republican party, must do something to vindicate his sincerity and his "regularity." Consequently he has succeeded in getting a virulent attack on President Wilson inserted in the Congressional Record. He put it in the form of a letter addressed to Senator Poincaré of Washington bearing upon his (Roosevelt's) controversy with Postmaster Burleson in which he charged the postmaster with discrimination in favor of some newspapers and against others according as they favored or opposed the administration. He charged President Wilson personally with responsibility for what the postmaster general had done in the matter and alluded particularly to the toleration of the Hearst papers, which he claimed to be pro-German. On motion of another senator, Mr. Burleson's reply to a former attack of Roosevelt was also ordered printed in the Record, while several disgusted republicans such as Senator Gallinger expressed the hope that this would be the end of the controversy. Mr. Gallinger, however, must understand that Roosevelt will not cease to assail the administration unless he be interned.

AWAITING THE DRIVE

Never have the Allies made such elaborate preparations for a German attack as they have at present in readiness for the renewal of the German drive.

Why, it is asked, do they not attack the Germans in advance?

That is a very pertinent question as it does seem rather strange that they remain on the defensive while Germany is allowed to perfect her arrangements for attack at her leisure. Well, there is a reason. The main point is to prevent the Germans getting through the allied line. If, therefore, any part of this line left its fixed position in an advance, it might be cut off and thus an opening left for the enemy to pass through.

The allied plan is, to fortify in their present position to meet the German attack with all the advantages possible so that they can inflict heavy loss upon any attacking force while themselves escaping with a minimum of loss.

Why the Germans hang back so long is variously explained. They have been badly demoralized since the taking of Mt. Kemmel and now they are gathering all the forces available for another final effort to end it all "before the Americans arrive."

The Huns will find that one of the greatest obstacles to their advance will be the American forces at which they have so often sneered.

The battle will soon be resumed and we expect to see Germany get a worse beating in this case than she suffered in the recent drive.

McADOO VS. CONGRESS

Secretary McAdoo wants a war revenue measure passed by the present congress before adjourning; but there is a decided disinclination among many members of both parties to take the matter up before the elections.

Some are of the opinion that to deal properly with such a measure would incur the displeasure of the electorate and, therefore, result in the defeat of some of the members who are to seek re-election.

The people must expect new taxes, heavier than have yet been imposed, and if Secretary McAdoo must have the money in order to meet the needs of the government, the people are not likely to object.

Secretary McAdoo wants to raise a reasonable share of the war expenditures from taxation. Congress would have him call for another Liberty loan. He will have to go so later on and perhaps many times, but the fact remains that the property owners of the land, the wage earners and all who have the money to give must yield a fair proportion of it for war expenditures. It would have a bad effect upon our finances to borrow too heavily. All these loans bear interest and it will require considerable straight revenue to meet this interest and the loans when they mature.

The congressmen feel that they could not easily pass a revenue bill before October 15, which would leave them very little time to explain matters to their constituents. They would gladly wait until the short session in December when the elections would be over and everybody could give the measure undivided attention. The objection of the congressmen is very natural, but the delay they ask would probably result in putting the consideration of the revenue bill over until the new congress meets next March. That would cause serious delay in the treasury department as it requires six months to get everything ready for the collecting force to go to work.

On the whole if the revenue bill cannot be postponed without the risk of holding back some of the operations of war, then it should be passed regardless of the objections of the congressmen who are sent to Washington to help transact the nation's business.

GIVE OUR SLAVS A CHANCE

There are in this country thousands of men of Slavic birth who failed to take out naturalization papers and who are therefore classed as enemy aliens because they were born subjects of the Austrian crown. They are the Czechs-Slovaks, Jugo-Slavs, Ruthenians, and Slavonians. But if you were to search America over you could not find men who more bitterly hate German and Austrian rule. Their forefathers for centuries were ground under the heel of Austrian-German oppressors. Their language was forbidden. Their customs outlawed. Their rights trampled upon. Drinking of the bitter cup the Huns forced them to drain, they have never given up their steadfast dream of liberty and nationality. When we entered the war and these men were drafted they were glad to garb themselves in khaki and fight for Uncle Sam. It was their heaven-sent chance to even up a score written by the Hun in blood and tears.

And then last winter these men of the subject races were told they were not wanted. They were enemy aliens, because subjects of an empire that their very lives had taught them to curse. They were told they could take their honorable discharge and go back to their places of employment. But many of them did not leave. They wanted to do something in the war against tyranny. So they were put upon "permanent fatigue" and given various unsoldierly jobs. Still they stuck.

Now men who display that kind of spirit, men who constitute some of the finest fighting material in the world, should not be rejected upon a technicality. We are fighting to make subject races free. It is inconsistent to say we will not allow members of those subject races to help us do the fighting. There should be place in the ranks for every Slav who wants to identify himself with America and the American army. The war department should recommend and congress should pass laws that would take these men out of their impossible position. Of course great care is necessary to prevent real enemies entering the army but it seems it would be easy to distinguish in such cases between the real alien enemy and the alien friend.

England, Canada, France welcome them into their armies. Why should not we? Why should these men, whose work has been manifest in the upbuilding of so many of our industries, be forced to go elsewhere to do their fighting?

If we lose these good citizens now we lose them forever. If England, Canada and France extend to them the hand of full fellowship, they will never come back here. The lands that give them a coveted opportunity to fight will be the ones in which they will dwell when the battling is over and the victory won.

General Crowder's judgment on this question should be sound as it is on other important issues.

We are pledged to aid Russia. If the Slavs join us in that desirable aim they should be given an opportunity.

MOTORCYCLE AND AUTO ACCIDENTS

James Lowney, residing in Nashua, had both legs broken as a result of being struck by an automobile in Lakeview avenue, near Bridge street, about 10:20 o'clock Saturday night. Lowney was crossing the street and stepped almost directly in front of an automobile driven by Arthur S. Applebaum of 27 St. Luke's road, Brighton. The injured man was hurried to St. John's hospital. Following the accident the driver of the automobile reported the matter at the police station.

Auto vs. Motorcycle

An automobile driven by John Saggs of 435 Worthen street collided with a motorcycle with side car on the Princeton boulevard Saturday night, one of the rear wheels of the automobile being smashed as a result. The motorcycle suffered some damage, but the operator did not leave his name and after making temporary repairs went on his way.

Was Knocked Down

As Jacob Boorstein of 555 Haverhill street, Lawrence, was driving up Merrimack street near Dutton street yesterday afternoon, an unknown man stepped in front of his car, was knocked down, but got up again and walked away. Boorstein reported the matter to the police.

Boy Hit By Auto

Last evening William Chapdelaine, a lad aged about four years, was struck and knocked down by an auto driven by a New Hampshire man, who did not stop to investigate. Chapdelaine, who was but slightly injured, lives with his parents at 21 Watson ave.

John Murphy Hurt

John Murphy residing at 152 Middlesex street stepped in front of an automobile, which was passing through Middlesex street about 1:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was knocked down and sustained several cuts on the head and face. The injured man was placed in the automobile which belonged to Frederick E. Burbeck of Westford and taken to St. John's hospital. Later Mr. Burbeck reported the accident to the police.

Two Autos Collide

Automobiles belonging to James Norton of 351 Chelmsford street and Clarence Remmes of 1299 Westford st. collided in the Princeton boulevard near the junction of Wood street about 6 o'clock Saturday night. Mrs. Norton and her two children in one car and Mr. Remmes in the other received a severe shaking up and minor bruises, but none suffered injury serious enough to be removed to a hospital.

Killed a Dog

William E. Belleville, a chauffeur operating a Buick car, ran over and killed a dog, the property of a Mr. McManis, at the corner of Chelmsford and Plain streets Saturday evening after 8 o'clock. The chauffeur reported the matter to the board of health and to the police station.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Note:—Below is what the press thought of the different theatres and the current attractions and of others to come later.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Beginning this afternoon and continuing tomorrow and Wednesday, three first class vaudeville acts and a big feature picture will provide the program at the B. F. Keith theatre. In addition the second instalment of "The Battle of Picardy" will be produced.

Charles Moriarty & Co.—two men and a woman—will give their plot of laughter, called "Art and Stupidity." It is impossible to adequately describe the antics of this trio. What they do is done wholly to amuse, and people, and everywhere these funsters go they succeed admirably in changing over frames of mind.

Manning, Feeney & Knowles in a little bit of everything are also much thought of as funmakers. The three men are known all over the vaudeville circuits. They sing and dance and elude away in a manner that gets them a lot of applause.

The third act on this bill will be Vim, Beauty and Health, a novelty acrobatic trio. The men work with a great deal of dash, and they are perfectly developed. The woman is of uncommon beauty of figure, and she, too, does some quite unusual work.

A new picture with an old idea is "The Guilty Man," which will be produced the first half of the week. In a broad sense the motif has to do with the awakening conscience in a human soul—the soul of a man who has done a woman the greatest wrong that can be done her. The hypothetical question confronting the audience is this: If a woman, deserted by the man she trusted, brings forth a daughter into an environment of evil, and the daughter, as the result of her surroundings, commits a crime, who is to blame? The answer is found in the title of the production, "The Guilty Man." Gloria Howe as the daughter and Vivian Reed as the mother, and William Garwood in the title role, rise to superb heights in their portrayals.

ARMY DOCTORS SAY: RADWAY'S READY RELIEF Better Than ALL OTHER PAIN REMEDIES

A LETTER from Dr. Simpson of the Anderson Zouaves, N. Y. (62d Regt.), says: "During the time our regiment was stationed on Riker's Island we were out of medical stores. I obtained some of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF and used it with greater success in the treatment of Bowel Complaint, Colds, Rheumatism, Chills, Pains, Aches and Soreness of the limbs than all other remedial agents."

mother, and William Garwood in the title role, rise to superb heights in their portrayals. "The Battle of Picardy," above referred to, represents the first motion picture of the Germans' great drive, in March last, to reach this country. The opening instalment was shown last week. In the second there will be depicted the price the Huns paid for their advance. These pictures are absolutely authentic, and they are shown by arrangement with the military authorities of the country and our allies. There will be three performances daily—one in the afternoon and two at night.

THE STRAND

June Elvidge, whose personal acquaintances in Lowell number into the hundreds, will be featured in "The Old Law," for the first three days of the week at The Strand, beginning with Saturday night. You can't afford to miss this wonderful picture. Miss Elvidge is supported by John Bowers, Eloise Clements and others of equal rank. It's a gripping story and unfolds some interesting situations.

Bert Lyell, the well known romantic actor, in his latest release, "The Trail of Yesterday," is the other big feature. Besides being an unusual story, it provides wonderfully good scenic effects. The Toto comedy and the Pathe Weekly are other contributions that will help make the bill of the usual high standard, while the musical features given by the Strand Symphony Players always proves enjoyable. The organ numbers by Conductor Martel are most commendable. The week's soloists will be Dorothy Nesbitt and John Bowers.

Remember The Strand is always cool, clean and comfortable. A parking space for motorists who wish its use is offered them in the rear of the theatre just off Warren street. No extra charge.

MAN, WIFE AND TWO CHILDREN KILLED

BIDDEFORD, Me., May 27.—Scott Palmer, aged 15, and Edson Palmer, aged 11, who were frightfully injured when their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Palmer of Rochester, N. H., were killed at Bragdon's Crossing, Wells Beach, yesterday, as the result of their automobile having been struck by a train dined at the Vesper hospital, early this morning. Doris, their 15-year-old sister, who has a fracture of the shoulder, as a result of the accident, is believed to be out of danger. The Palmer family was returning to Rochester, N. H., after an excursion to Wells Beach. A barn hides the view of Bragdon's Crossing, which is about a quarter of a mile from the Wells Beach station, and the train was upon the car before Scott Palmer, who was driving, could stop.

THE PRESIDENT MAY SAVE BASEBALL

If the Crowder order goes through in its original form it will sound the death knell to baseball in major and minor leagues.

There is only one reason to believe it will not go through as originally given out, that being a statement from President Wilson made early in the war.

The president said that he considered the continuation of healthful sports an essential factor in war times and that he could see no reason why sports should be discontinued.

In his statement President Wilson did not differentiate between professional and amateur sports, between baseball and any other form of athletic activity.

His word will be final in the Crowder order and undoubtedly great pressure will be brought to bear to have him make some exceptions in the case of baseball.

Millions of dollars worth of property will be rendered practically valueless if baseball is discontinued. Hundreds of thousands of dollars in revenues will be cut off from the federal government through the war tax paid at the gate.

Whether the government can better stand this loss by putting a few hundred men to work at jobs they know absolutely nothing of is a question for the administration to solve.

Against the order also stands the theory that the people at large need amusements to divert their minds questionably from the war.

The following figures show why it will be impossible for baseball to continue should the order go through. The latest "Who's Who in Baseball," a book devoted to the records of major league players, and considered authentic, lists 224 major league ballplayers of whom six are not now actively engaged in the game. Of the 218 remaining 42 are already in service. Out of the 176 remaining but 41 do not come under Crowder's order, leaving 135 who must quit baseball if the order goes into effect.

These figures are not exact as this book does not publish a list of youngsters who broke in this year, a few of whom are too young to come under the order.

But it would be manifestly impossible to fill the shoes of the 135 directly affected by the order.

The Crowder order includes in part:

"Persons, including ushers and other attendants engaged and occupied in and in connection with games, sports and amusements, excepting actual performers in legitimate concerts, operas and theatrical performances."

Professional boxing would not be hit so hard by the order as many boxers could continue their boxing at night while following some useful occupation during the day. Racing will be affected as most of the jockeys are within the draft age, but harness racing will not be so seriously hit, drivers, as a general rule being over the age.

RAISED BIG SERVICE FLAG

GOV. McCALL SPEAKING AT FLAG RAISING EXERCISES

Thousands of People Hear Gov. McCall and Other Speakers at St. Louis' Church

A service flag containing 210 stars, one of which was a gold star to the memory of the late Private Adelard Julien, who died while in the service, was raised to the top of the 65-foot staff in front of St. Louis' church in West Sixth street yesterday afternoon and the exercises, which were attended by nearly 10,000 people, will mark a notable event in the history of the young but prosperous parish. Governor Samuel W. McCall and Mayor Perry D. Thompson as well as Rev. E. Cabanel, chaplain of the "Blue Devils" in France, who spent 38 months in the trenches, graced the occasion by their presence.

Rev. Fr. Cabanel, attired in a cassock decorated with chevrons and the various medals of honor he received on the battlefield, delivered a very forceful sermon in the course of which he called the attention of the parishioners who remained at home while their sons, brothers and fathers were fighting in France, to their duties at home. The distinguished clergyman paid a fine tribute to the parish for the fine showing it is making in this great war for democracy. "It is indeed very consoling," he said, "to note how the Catholics of the allied nations are responding to the call, and St. Louis' parish is a fine example of this. Two hundred and ten of your boys have gone to the front and already one of them has made the supreme sacrifice. Now I believe it is best for me to be frank with you and tell you just what I think. Of the 210 young men who have left their fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers and all that is dear to them to don the military uniform, it may be that not one of them will ever return. I may be mistaken, and I hope so, but it is better for you to make up your mind just now that this war is a terrible struggle and many more lives will be sacrificed before this great conflict is brought to an end, and the only weapons in your power to safeguard the lives of your sons, brothers and fathers is prayer and sacrifices. Pray God that the young men represented by the 210 stars be given the strength and endurance to conquer the enemy and make sacrifices so that their sacrifices in the trenches will be lightened."

Rev. Fr. Cabanel then spoke of the misery and hardships in the trenches, but never once did he refer to his experiences with the "Blue Devils" during 38 months. He quoted the commandments of God, "Thou Shalt Not Kill," and "Thy Shall Love Your Neighbor." The law of God, he said, "has been entirely ignored by the enemy, who are endeavoring to slaughter the entire world, and who are committing horrible atrocities in order to gain supremacy. The allied nations are not committing murder, they are killing, but only in order to protect themselves." The preacher then referred to the number of men under arms in France, saying that at the battle of the Marne there were 1,500,000 soldiers in France. "Now," he said, "there are 2,500,000 and probably before a great while the number will be doubled. France opened the defensive against the Germans and France and America will win the war. We came to your rescue when you were fighting for independence and now you are repaying us by coming to our assistance. I did not know America prior to my coming to this country last November, but since that time I have learned to love America."

At the close of the sermon the choir sang "Laud Sion," the soloists being Misses Clemence Simard and Bernadette Fontaine, Messrs. Jules Morissette and O. J. David. The large service flag was then blessed by the pastor of the parish and all repaired to the front of the church, where the outdoor patriotic exercises were held.

Gov. McCall speaks
The speakers and guests occupied chairs on a specially erected platform at the front of the church and Narcisse Gauthier, chairman of the committee, presided. The platform was handsomely decorated with American and French flags and the scene was a most pleasing one. The service flag preceded to the front of the church, accompanied by the band, sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

In opening the exercises Chairman Gauthier made a few remarks of introduction and he introduced as the first speaker Gov. McCall, who spoke in part as follows:

"These are patriotic times. I have today attended a mass by 20,000 people in the open air, at which the Cardinal was present. I attended a Cardinal service. Now I am here in this great parish. All these services are animated by one feeling of love for the flag, just as all creeds and races are fighting for it."

"This flag, studded with stars as thick as the Milky Way, represents Catholic boys. Another flag will represent Protestant boys, and all fighting under the starry banner."

"As governor of the state, it has been my duty to help muster into the service of the country nearly 100,000 men from this commonwealth alone, to go to the help of France. We have hundreds of thousands of American boys there and will increase that number rapidly."

"We are fighting an enemy that is devoted to the arts of war. We practiced the arts of peace. But we must remember that he has ranged against him the great civilized nations of the world—Italy, Switzerland, France, England and the north, stretching all over the globe with a model parliamentary system; and finally America, with its people from all over the world. And these four great nations can never be defeated by any combination of Germans and Turks."

"I hope your boys will return. But I want to tell you that the whole state is back of them and others like them and hopes fervently that they may return conquerors."

Rep. Henri Achin
Rep. Henri Achin was the next speaker and in the course of his remarks he urged his listeners to do their "bit" by investing in Liberty bonds and contributing their share to the Red Triangle, Knights of Columbus and Salvation Army war funds, and he concluded that the state will look after the parents of the soldiers who are at the front. Other speakers were Henri T. Lehoucq, president general of the Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amérique and postmaster at Nashua, N. H.; Senator Arthur W. Colburn and Mayor Perry D. Thompson. The exercises closed with the singing of "La Marseillaise" and "O Canada" by the choir.

The members of the reception committee were: Pierre A. Brousseau, Narcisse Gauthier, John T. Roy, John F. Beaulieu, Joseph Delorme, Maxime Lejeune, Wilfred Barrette, George H. Perrault, Alfred Hervey, Arsene Trudel and Ernest Provencier.

Among the clergy present from other parishes were Rev. Louis Richaud, O.M.I., and Rev. Charles Benoit, O.M.I. of St. Joseph's parish and Rev. J. B. A. Barrette, O.M.I., and Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., of Notre Dame de

Kimballs Defeat Camp Devens Team at Spalding Park

The Kimballs of this city defeated the ordnance team from the depot headquarters of Camp Devens at Spalding park yesterday afternoon, 4 to 3, in the first Sunday game ever played on that well known diamond. Incidentally 2000 or so fans contributed a bountiful amount of money for the benefit of the soldiers' fund.

The game itself was an interesting and on the whole well-played affair. The winning run was scored in the ninth on a squeeze play and at no stage did the set-to border on the monotonous. The visitors got one in the first and Lowell tied things up in the third. Two more came Lowell's way in the fourth and from then on until the eighth each nine was equal. In the octave, however, the soldiers evened matters and it looked like an overtime game until Jimmie Liston scored the fourth Kimball hit on Allen's bunt.

It seemed like old times to have the grandstand filled and the bleachers nearly filled with fans. When the game started there wasn't a seat to be had in the enclosed section and many of the fair sex were "game" enough to stand throughout the contest. In fact, there were as many as men in the grandstand and they weren't at all shy, Mary Ellen, when it came to expressing their feelings at an exciting period of the contest.

Bobby Keeler was the arbiter of the afternoon and he did his usual workmanlike job, thank you. And seeing that it was all for a good cause, Robert didn't collect a cent for his services. In fact, the soldiers were the only men to do any collecting and although the total wasn't announced, the grins on their faces seemed to portend a lot of nourishment for their fund.

The weather man was a little afraid in his attitude and as the game wore on many of the fans were compelled to leave because of the fact. The majority stuck it out, however.

Wheeler Fuller, former Lawrence New England star, was on the mound for the soldiers and he pitched a good game but received anything but heart support. Four errors, most of them of the disastrous kind, didn't help the big follow any. Nine strikeouts give evidence that he was on the job. Mulino pitched for the Kimballs and although unable to groove the ball in the early stages of the game, eventually he came around and nearly tied his opponent's breezing record. Mulino struck out eight would-be sluggers. He passed three men and Fuller once.

Schohom at shortstop for the locals was the holding luminary and nothing went near him without being gobbled. Jimmie Liston caught a good game and Allen at second base contributed three hits to the general good, two singles and a double and then won the game on a sacrifice. Durkin, a Lowell boy, played right field for the soldiers and was "there" at all stages. He contributed one hit which scored Camp Devens' first run. Murphy, a former Broadway star, played at third and centre for the ordnance team and got two hits. Wagner also played right for the visitors but he didn't make a very favorable impression. Perhaps the fans were led to expect too much because he had been touted as the brother of the famous Honus.

Lowell touched up Fuller for 15 hits while Mulino held the soldiers down to five.

The visitors got one on the first when Salvas was passed, stole second, was sacrificed to third and came home on Durkin's single to left. Cuna of the Kimballs evaded matters in the third when he got on through Charlie's boot at second and went to third. When Ned threw high and came home on "Bing" Falls' grounder which was slow enough to prevent anyone getting it home before the runner.

In the fourth the Kimballs got two more. Allen and Belleville each got a single to right. Schohom hit to third. Murphy was delineated and Allen came home. Mulino hit to right and Belleville scored.

Everything was quiet until the eighth when the military men tied the score. Wagner singled and went to second on Salvas' out. Graywatts singled to left but succeeded in getting to second while Falls was throwing to the plate. Wagner was held on third. Then Murphy closed up with a single to left. This ended the ordnance activities.

In the latter part of the ninth with one gone, Liston fled to centre, but the fielders refused to touch it. Kelly singled and Jimmie went to third. Then came Allen's perfect bunt and the winning run. The score:

a city dedicated to mercantile and industrial enterprise and pursuits, live a law-abiding, patriotic people, devoted to the finest instincts of American patriotism, embodying the genuine impulses of mankind. Let it, therefore, ever be our proud boast that Lowell and its people are a city of such high such, what they ever have been, what they ever will be considered to be, a patriotic, law-abiding, industrious, home-loving people, with no hatred, no envy in their hearts, but ever inspired by love, respect, and forbearance for their fellowmen.

"When you glance over the pages of your city's history you must be impressed with the thought that the patriotism of her citizens in the past has created memories and traditions replete with valor and heroic achievement, and we men and women of today as well as the men and women of future time must appreciate with fond veneration the valued heritage, that such cherished memories of the valor, bravery and heroism of the men of Lowell of former generations have created for us.

"With delightful felicity could one conjure up the names of the men of other days, men who have lent a lustre to the name of Lowell, orators, lawyers, statesmen, captains of industry, soldiers and patriots, too numerous to name, all of whom, and the memories and traditions left of them to us, entitle our city and its institutions to a place in the annals of our American history worthy of a true American city.

"Men and women of Lowell, never need make an apology for its city's history, or the history of its men and women, each of whom has ever stood for the genuine standard of American idealism; ever hope and expect that such heritage shall ever truly serve as an inspiration to all who may call an inhabitant of Lowell, its people.

"The quartet and audience then sang 'The Battle Hymn of the Republic' and Dexter G. Morrill then read Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

Rev. Dr. Pickard

He was followed by Rev. Dr. Pickard, who added in his collection.

"When the flag was raised by Sumner the diplomats of European nations said that it was the beginning of the end; the Union was lost; democracy would soon dissolve. When the president called out volunteers those same representatives of European nations said that the men of the north and the men of the south would never fight each other. But men like you proved that secession was impossible, and we have now a country with one flag blessing itself and the whole world.

"But where are your comrades? Gone. Their graves are far and wide. Some are on the heights of Arlington; some are in the trenches of the world, who fought and died on many fields. In Virginia, in Kentucky, all over the south, their graves are dotted. In some places nobody knows where they lie, and wild birds sing over them. A grateful country will not let them be forgotten. Your hearts will hold the memory of them. You know that there have never been memorial services for self-seekers. Self-sacrifice will always have memorials."

Continuing, he said: "This country is God's last great experiment in government. And this government came into being because men had convictions which they were willing to live for and to die for. This government, this country, this nation, this people, and died for it are inspiration for other lands. This government is a great power among the nations of the world.

"And now we, our country, is again engaged in an unselfish struggle for humanity. This time the scope of our warfare is enlarged. We are fighting for the freedom of the world as well as for the rights of America. A fierce, untrained tiger is loose among the nations.

"Germany's standards of right and of international justice are the standards of the tiger of the jungle. She aims to rule the world by brute force and physical might. Germany must be taught that she is a nation, and that she must fall upon the young men of the age and with the same dauntless courage and determination that characterized you they are rallying to the country's colors.

"But this Memorial day belongs to you, the veterans of the Civil war. Let me remind you for this audience that we are not satisfied to place flowers on the graves of your comrades, but we wish also to gladden your hearts with the choicest flowers of our esteem and love. Your ranks are becoming thinner each year you become more venerable, but you remain among us examples of patriotism. May your remaining years be made of the highest of faith, hope and love, until you answer to the roll call in the morning."

The exercises concluded with the singing of "America" and benediction by Rev. Mr. Porrey.

the wage commission's recommendations in the following particulars:

The principle of the basic eight-hour day is recognized, but owing to exigencies of the war situation, hours of employment are not actually reduced and overtime is to be paid pro rata; future adjustments of pay are to be made on the basis of eight scale of increase, day laborers employed mainly on track work are to get at least 31-2 cents an hour more than they received last December 31.

A minimum of 55 cents an hour is established for the shop trades, including machinists, boilermakers and blacksmiths.

Women are to receive the same pay as men for the same work, and negroes are to get the same as white men for similar employment.

New Wage Board Created

To work out a multitude of injustices of the among employees doing similar work in different localities and other injustices caused by varying rates of employment and conditions of organization the director general created a new board of railway wages and working conditions, consisting of three labor representatives and three representatives of the railroad.

The only provision for limitation of earnings is a rule that in cases where the new scale permits increases "greater than is appropriate or necessary to those trainmen and engine-men who make abnormal amounts of mileage and who therefore make already an unusually high monthly earnings." The railroad board will take up with committees of men the question of limiting mileage made per month.

Special rates of pay are provided for office, messenger and chore boys and similar employees under 18 years, as follows: 35 cents per month when the pay in December, 1915, was from $20 to $45 a month; $15 increase where rate was from $20 to $30 a month; $10 increase where the rate was less than $20 a month.

Personal of New Board

The new board of railroad wages and working conditions is composed of J. J. Dermody, vice president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers; G. H. Sines, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; A. O. Wharton, head of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor; F. R. Gaines, vice president of motive power of the Central of Georgia railway; C. E. Lindsey, maintenance of ways engineer for the New York Central and W. E. Morse, general manager of the Denver & Salt Lake railroad. The latter three have resigned their positions with the railroads to become full-time members of the new board.

"It shall be the duty of the board," says the wage order, "to hear and investigate matters presented by railway employees or their representatives affecting inequalities as to wages and working conditions whether as to individual employees or classes of labor; conditions arising from competition with employees in other industries; rules and working conditions for the several classes of employees, whether for the country as a whole or different parts of the country. The board shall hear and investigate other matters affecting wages and conditions of employment referred to it by the director general. The board shall be solely an advisory body and shall submit its recommendations to the director general for his determination."

The percentages of wage increases range from 12 for men who received $16 a month in December, 1915, down to a small rate for those receiving $2.00 a month, and more pay is allowed men who made $250 or more in 1914. The actual advances run up to $24.

With the exception of officers and messenger boys under 18, who are given smaller increases, all employees who received less than $16 a month

35,000 AT MILITARY FLAG DAY OBSERVANCE MASS IN BOSTON

BOSTON, May 27.—The annual solemn military mass for those who have given up their lives for their country was held at Fenway Park yesterday morning. Governor McCall and Lieut. Governor Coolidge, Mayors Peters, Admiral Wood and prominent dignitaries of the state, city and nation attended.

Cardinal O'Connell presided at the mass, which was celebrated in a beautiful sanctuary erected in the middle of the infield, and so placed that those seated in the grandstand faced the altar. There must have been 30,000 persons present, and at least 5000 in the marching delegations.

The marchers were massed in the playing field and after the mass passed in review before the cardinal, the lieutenant-governor, Mayor Peters and Chief Marshal Brigadier-General John J. Sullivan. Rev. James Hayes, C.S.S.R., was the preacher.

FLAG DAY OBSERVANCE BY LOWELL ELKS

The local lodge of Elks will observe Flag day, Friday, June 14, with a parade and outdoor exercises on the South common in the evening. John F. Farley is chairman of the committee on arrangements and other members include: Dr. T. F. Carroll, Maj. Walter R. Jones, William H. Mahan, Capt. A. B. Mitchell and John J. Healey.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson is chief marshal of the parade which will be held at 7.30 in the evening and will cover the downtown streets. Major Jones is chief of staff.

Congressman John Jacob Rogers is to be one of the speakers at the exercises on the common and another speaker of national reputation is also to be secured. Invitations are being sent out to various organizations to take part in the demonstration.

HELD INQUEST

An inquest into the cause of death of Maurice Welch was held before Judge John J. Fitzmaurice in the court of sessions this morning. Welch and a companion, both of whom reside in Nashua, were riding in an automobile on the boulevard on the night of May 24th when the front wheels of the machine struck a pile of sand, the auto was overturned and Welch sustained injuries which resulted in his death a few hours afterwards.

MR. PELTON HONORED

Mr. Albert Pelton, a well known overseer in the Lawrence Manufacturing company, was pleasantly surprised by his employees last Saturday noon when he severed his connections with that company. As a token of the esteem in which this popular overseer is held by the girls, he was presented a purse of gold, and a soldier's kit. Although taken completely by surprise, he responded in a very fitting manner, and thanked the givers for remembering him so kindly. Mr. Pelton resides in Dracut, and has been employed in the establishment for the past nine years, where he has won a host of friends. Mr. Pelton leaves for Fort Slocum this week, and the best wishes of his many friends go with him for the best of good luck and success in his new work with Uncle Sam.

SCHOOL FOR OFFICERS

The three commissioned officers and three non-commissioned officers from each of the local state guard companies will go to the Methuen army on the Lawrence road next Saturday and Sunday and will hold a school for officers. Maj. A. W. R. Jones of this city is to be one of the instructors. The Lowell men will leave here at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and will return Sunday evening. Cots have been provided for them to sleep in the building and the headquarters company of the guard will look after their mess.

VICTORY GARDENS

Although hundreds of garden lots have been disposed of by the war garden committee, Secretary Charles T. Upton stated this morning that the committee has more good lots to give out in various parts of the city, and people who have made up their mind to conduct a war garden during the summer and who have not yet secured their lots had better make application at once at the office of the committee in the park department office at city hall.

James A. Sheehan Once More Home to His Friends at the Talbot Clothing Company

After an absence of a few months, James A. Sheehan is glad to announce that he is back at the American House Store—"I felt I could only do justice to my friends by going back to Talbot's where there is a great stock to select from and where satisfaction is guaranteed with every sale. The Talbot people do business on broadest lines and I am in position to fully guarantee each sale and back it up if by any chance a garment should go wrong." The Talbots are to be congratulated on Mr. Sheehan's return as he is a conscientious, bright and capable young man and with their great stock to sell from he will be one of the most popular clothing men in town. His friends will congratulate him on his change.

This is a fine soluble blue powder with which you can make your own bluing. Unlike most bluing it will be found to be a decided blue (not purple in color) and is of real benefit to the precise laundress. It is excellent for limes and laces—bleaches and preserves the material. Dissolve an ounce of the powder in one quart of cold water. The very best bluing is the result.

or both class and commodity rates, become effective June 25, and the passenger increase will go into effect June 10.

Issued under authority granted by the railroad act to President Wilson acting through the director general, the order wipes out all intrastate lower rates effective on either freight or passenger traffic.

Travelers in standard sleeping and parlor cars are required to pay 31-2 cents a mile in addition to Pullman fares and in tourist sleeping cars 31-4 cents. Pullman rates remain the same.

Commutation and other suburban rates on railroads are increased 10 per cent. Fares on electric interurban lines are not affected.

Special excursion, mileage, convention and tourist rates, with a few exceptions, are discontinued. Privileges such as stop-overs and free side trips are abolished, and excess baggage charges are increased.

Both freight and passenger rates on boat lines operated on the lakes, rivers or coastwise by railroads are to be raised proportionately with the general increases.

Export and import freight rates are ordered cancelled, and the higher domestic rates will apply to and from ports.

A number of flat increases, instead of percentage additions, are ordered for coal, coke, lumber, ore, stone, grain, cotton, livestock, meats, sugar, bullion and other commodities.

Existing differentials and rate relationships between various localities are to be preserved as far as possible, but no adjustments will have to be made later.

All rates are subject to review and correction by the interstate commerce commission.

Big Increases In Everything

In announcing that the rate increases are required by public interest, Director General McAdoo referred to the $300,000,000 or more added to the payrolls of railroad labor under an order published today; to the rapidly rising cost of coal, which he estimated this year alone at $16,000,000 more than last year; and to higher cost of every other material entering into railroad transportation. Operating expenses he estimated would be between $330,000,000 and $350,000,000 greater this year than the $2,852,000,000 figure of last year.

No part of the increased rates is on account of the program of nearly a billion dollars of improvements, additions and new equipment this year, he explained.

"It is earnestly hoped," said the director general, "that all citizens affected directly or indirectly by this increase as an unavoidable war measure, will accept the additional burden in the same spirit of self-sacrifice in which they have accepted other burdens and the personal losses which are parts of the price that the nation is patriotically paying for the world liberty."

Mr. McAdoo called attention to the fact that "there is no way in which the present increases will insure to private profit."

"If they turn out to be more than are needed to meet the grave public emergency," he added, "they will promptly be readjusted so as to prevent any unnecessary burden upon the public; but pending such readjustment, the excess if any, will be for the benefit of the people of the United States as a whole and not for the benefit of the private railroad owners or any of them."

"To the extent that savings can be effected and to the extent that reduced prices for the things the railroads must buy, can be realized, it will be the purpose of the director general to make from time to time appropriate reductions."

The provision that intrastate rates shall be abolished wherever substitute interstate rates between the same points exist, and that all shall be raised to a standard national level, develops the first definite conflict between the powers of the federal railroad administration and the state railroad and public utilities commissions, which heretofore have claimed exclusive jurisdiction over intrastate rates. Railroad rate agents will file tariffs containing the new rates with state commissions as well as the Interstate Commerce commission, but state commissions are permitted not to review under the railroad act.

Mr. McAdoo announced that he expected the Interstate Commerce commission to review many of the new schedules on complaint of shippers or other commercial interests and that changes would be made on the commission's recommendations. This is necessary to readjust the nationwide fabric of complicated rates, each interdependent on scores of others and so delicately adjusted in hundreds of thousands of cases that a change of a cent or two causes industrial and commercial disturbances. The commission probably will be busy for months hearing complaints and protests.

Excursion Fares Abolished

Passenger fares in some sparsely settled regions now more than three cents will not be reduced. Although existing excursion and tourist fares are abolished, the order permits the re-establishment of round trip tourist fares somewhat lower than the three cent rate.

Reduced Rates For Men In Service

Exceptions to the three-cent rate are made for soldiers and sailors, who may travel at one cent a mile when on furlough at their own expense, and for persons attending the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Portland, Ore., and the United Confederate Veterans' reunion at Tulsa, Okla. Both of these organizations are permitted rates of one cent a mile and for various state meetings of the veterans, two cents will be charged.

Children under five years of age will be carried free, as at present, and those between five and 12 will be charged half of the new higher fare. Commutation fares, which are raised 10 per cent., are construed to apply to persons having daily or frequent occasion to travel between their homes and places of employment or educational institutions.

Use of Parlor Cars Discouraged

To discourage the use of heavy sleeping and parlor cars, the new order provided that the following minimum number of tickets should be bought for drawing rooms, compartment or sections:

Two adult tickets for a drawing room in a sleeping car; two adult tickets for a compartment; one and one-half adult tickets for a section; five adult tickets for exclusive occupancy of a drawing room in a parlor car.

Passenger fares by water routes or by rail and water are to be increased proportionately with the higher rail charges.

The basis for computing charges for excess baggage is to be one-sixth of the normal passenger fare, with a minimum of 15 cents per hundred pounds and a minimum collection of 25 cents per shipment.

The director general provided fully for the redemption of tickets and mileage books purchased before June 10 and rendered invalid after that date when the higher fares become effective. Unused portions of mileage books and unused or partly used tickets will be redeemed at their original purchase rate.

The 25 per cent. increase in freight charges will apply generally to class and commodity rates, but minor variations will be necessary in many cases. For instances where certain relationships exist between rival commercial centers, the 25 per cent. increase will apply to the longer distance and the rate to the nearer locality will be the same number of cents less as under present schedules. In this way, charges for many short hauls will be raised more than 25 per cent.

Minimum Rates Established

The following minima are established for the classes in the several classification territories:

Classes	1	2	3	4	5	6
Official Classification	25	21 1/2	17	12 1/2	9	7
Southern	25	21 1/2	19	15	13	11
Western	25	21	17 1/2	15	11	—
Illinois	25	21	17 1/2	15	11	12 1/2

Flat increases are provided for coal carried under commodity rates as follows:

Fifteen cents per net ton of 2000 pounds where rate is now less than 40 cents per ton; 20 cents where rate is 40 to 50 cents; 30 cents where rate is 50 to 60 cents; 40 cents where rate is 60 to 75 cents; 50 cents where rate is 75 to 85 cents; and 60 cents where rate is 85 to 90 cents.

For coke, flat increases are established as follows:

Fifteen cents per net ton where present rate is 40 cents or less; 25 cents where rate is 50 to 59 cents; 40 cents where rate is 60 to 69 cents; 50 cents where rate is 70 to 79 cents; 60 cents where rate is 80 to 89 cents; and 75 cents where rate is 90 to 99 cents.

For other commodities, flat increases are made as follows:

Iron ore 30 cents per ton.

Building and monumental stone, two cents per hundred pounds; crushed stone, one cent per hundred pounds; ordinary brick, two cents per hundred pounds; cement two cents per hundred pounds; lime one and a half cents per hundred pounds.

Lumber and forest products 25 per cent. increase, but not exceeding five cents per hundred pounds.

Wheat, other grains, flour and mill products, 25 per cent. increase, not to exceed six cents per hundred pounds.

Cotton and cotton linters, 15 cents per hundred pounds.

Livestock 25 per cent., but increase not to exceed seven cents per hundred pounds.

Meats, 25 per cent. increase, except that rates from Mississippi river points to Mississippi river territory, shall be the same as new rates from St. Joseph, Mo.

Bullion, 25 per cent. increase, with many flat rate variations.

Sugar, syrup and molasses, 25 per cent. increase, with many flat rate variations.

Minimum charges on less than carload shipments will be increased in accordance with new class ratings, but in no case is the charge on a single shipment to be less than 50 cents. The minimum charge for carload shipments is to be $15 per car.

Referring to differentials, the order says:

"In establishing the freight rates herein ordered, while established rate groupings and fixed differentials are not required to be used, their use is desirable if found practicable, even though certain rates may result which are lower or higher than would otherwise obtain."

PARIS, May 27.—After a long interval the Germans again began to bombard Paris with long range guns at 6.30 o'clock this morning.

the great offensive in Flandry in March. At least two of the mammoth pieces, which were located more than 70 miles from Paris, were destroyed or badly damaged some time ago by the French artillery. Early this month the long-range shelling was suddenly suspended, and on May 16, one of the German newspapers announced that two of the big pieces had been taken to the Krupp plant for repair work.
